

Irish Monasticism

Origins and Early Development

By JOHN RYAN, S.J. A new introduction and a new bibliography have been added to this reissue of the standard work on the development and character of the Irish monastic church from the fifth to the seventh century. Drawing on a vast body of original source material, the author reviews Christian monasticism, its growth and spread, and treats its introduction into Ireland. 443 pages. $12.50

China and the Christian Colleges, 1850-1950

By JESSIE G. LUTZ. The work of Protestant missionaries in the field of higher education in China during the period 1850-1950 is the subject of this exhaustive study. The author traces the colleges from their beginnings, through the years of increasing political impingement and government regulation, to their final merging with Chinese institutions under the communist regime. 608 pages. $16.00

The Evolution of Christian Thought

By T. A. BURKILL. "This volume could serve adequately as a primer of church history; the contents are divided into chapters and sections that largely coincide with commonly accepted ecclesiastical eras. . . The facts are concisely stated and accurate. . . This volume, with its heavy biographic emphasis, will be a treasured reference source."—Library Journal, 528 pages. $12.50

LUTHER'S THEOLOGY OF THE CROSS

by Regin Prenter

According to Regin Prenter, Luther formulated his theology of the cross with particular emphasis on the historical crucifixion and resurrection of Christ. Prenter shows how Luther's ideas differed from medieval views. A contrast is also drawn between Luther and certain modern theological systems. This essay brings a historical-theological issue into contemporary focus and offers a fresh look at Bultmann and other major thinkers.

Judaism and the Early Christian Mind

A Study of Cyril of Alexandria's Exegesis and Theology

by Robert L. Wilken

Unlike most studies of the thought of the early Church, which have concentrated on the Christian encounter with Hellenism, this investigation of the writings of Cyril of Alexandria reveals the crucial influence of the polemical conflicts with Judaism voiced by the early fathers. After tracing the relationships between Christians and Jews during the first four centuries A.D., Mr. Wilken concentrates on the difficulties raised by the Christians' inability to understand Judaism as anything other than an inferior foreshadowing of Christianity.

The Song at the Sea

Being a Commentary on a Commentary in Two Parts

by Judah Goldin

The Song at the Sea (Exodus 15:1-21) describes the miraculous deliverance of Moses and the children of Israel from the army of Pharaoh at the Reed Sea (commonly called the Red Sea): "For the horse of Pharaoh went in with his chariots and with horsemen into the sea, and the Lord brought again the waters of the sea upon them; but the children of Israel went in the midst of the sea." Goldin presents the oldest complete commentary on the Song, known as Shirta, and offers a new translation of the Commentary, along with a detailed critical exegesis of it.

THE RELIGION OF THE REPUBLIC

edited by Elwyn A. Smith

A group of experts respond—pro and con—to the thesis that there is a discernible common faith which might be called an "American religion." Interdisciplinary and research-oriented, this collection forms the first major discussion of a civil religion in America. Contributors: Sidney E. Mead, John F. Wilson, Robert Michaelsen, Thomas T. McAvoy, Dorothy Dohen, Jacob Agus, James H. Smylie, James Fulton Maclear, Elwyn A. Smith, James Luther Adams, J. Earl Thompson. $8.95

THE SAYINGS OF JESUS IN THE CHURCHES OF PAUL

by David L. Dungan

To what extent did Paul employ the sayings of Jesus in his ministry? David Dungan explores in depth how Paul used Christ's teaching to regulate early Christian congregations. The author takes into question two specific sayings in I Corinthians: Jesus' prohibition of divorce and his command concerning support for the apostles. In each case the author concludes that Paul stands squarely within the tradition that led to the Synoptic Gospels. "This is a sound and meaningful study . . . At points Dungan has taken the guesswork out of our search for the early forms of the Jesus tradition."—Krisler Stendahl. $6.95

REFORMERS IN THE WINGS

by David C. Steinmetz

"David Steinmetz turns our attention for a moment away from the major protagonists in the Reformation drama to the supporting cast waiting in the wings. He has a knack for selecting the most salient facts of their biographies . . . and a real talent for bringing out the essence of their theological expressions."—Lewis W. Spitz

"That rare combination of scholarly insight in the sources and a vivid unconventional pen give the book a freshness and wit which make it a delight to read—and ponder."—Heiko A. Oberman

An excellent text or collateral resource that is sure to spark student interest. $8.50

ORTHODOX AND HERESY IN EARLIEST CHRISTIANITY

by Walter Bauer

A significant attack on the opinion that heretical groups occurred only on the fringes of the orthodox church. Bauer's close study of Christianity in various parts of the Roman Empire leads him to conclude that the line between orthodoxy and heresy is far from clear. Journal of Ecumenical Studies recently commented: "The forthcoming publication of the English translation of [this book] promises to be a most significant event." Now readily available, Bauer's work will be essential for students and specialists in New Testament, Christian origins, and church history. $12.50

TRAJECTORIES THROUGH EARLY CHRISTIANITY

by James M. Robinson and Helmut Koester

Robinson and Koester take a radical new approach to historical and biblical research which calls into question many existing categories of scholarship. They focus on the movement, or "trajectories," of key ideas through early church history. A variety of texts and archeological findings are examined as the authors delve into social, political, religious, and geographical factors which influenced each tradition. Those interested in the early church and in methods of research will be stimulated by the ideas of these two prominent scholars. $9.95

Southern Baptists . . .

What are their new church programs and printed materials?

Who are their leaders?

What action did they take at the annual Convention?

How do they define themselves and their beliefs?

What do they believe about baptism, the Bible?

The answers to these questions and many more are found in the ENCYCLOPEDIA OF SOUTHERN BAPTISTS. It is a comprehensive and authentic source of information on Baptists in general and Southern Baptists in particular. Articles, written by prominent Southern Baptists, describe and interpret special distinctives, controversies, crises, and patterns of organization and work. Photographs illustrate many facets of their work. Volumes I and II cover the period from their small beginning to the middle 1950's. Volume III covers all significant developments in Southern Baptist life from 1956 to the present. If you already have the first volumes, you'll want to get Volume III to bring your set up to date. For a complete picture, you need all three volumes.
