

People in Political Science

Activities

Walter E. Beach, Brookings Institution, was appointed by the Mayor's Office of Washington, D.C. to the D.C. Bicentennial Commission of the U.S. Constitution and the City of Washington, D.C.

Arnold Beichman has been given a three-year appointment as Research Fellow at Hoover Institution, Stanford University.

William Crotty, professor at Northwestern University, has been named President-Elect of the Midwest Political Science Association.

Delmer Dunn, University of Georgia, has become president of the National Association of Schools of Public Administration.

Daniel S. Geller, associate professor of political science at The University of Mississippi, will conduct research as Visiting Scholar on the Correlates of War project at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, during the fall 1987 semester.

Parris Glendening, county executive in Prince George's County, Maryland, has been named vice chair of the National Association of Counties' Intergovernmental Relations Steering Committee.

George Grassmuck, professor, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, has completed six years as Secretary of the Gerald R. Ford Foundation. He remains a member of the Board of Trustees of the Foundation.

Jeffrey A. Hart, on sabbatical during the 1987-88 academic year, from Indiana University, Bloomington. He will be at the Berkeley Roundtable on the International Economy, University of California, Berkeley.

Helen M. Ingram, professor of political science at the University of Arizona, has recently been appointed Book Review Editor of the American Political Science Review. Ingram assumed her new duties on September 1, 1987.

Robert S. Jordan, after spending two years as Distinguished Visiting Professor of Strategy at the Naval War College, has returned to his position as professor of political science at the University of New Orleans. For 1987, he was named a Vice Admiral Edwin P. Hooper Post-Doctoral Fellow (non-resident) by the Naval Historical Center.

Richard Ned Lebow, professor of government and Director of the Peace Studies Program at Cornell University, has received a grant renewal from the Carnegie Corporation to complete a study of decisionmaking with psychologist Irving L. Janis. His book, Nuclear Crisis Management: A Dangerous Illusion, also sponsored by Carnegie, was published by Cornell University Press in January 1987. Lebow and Janice Gross Stein of the University of Toronto, have just received a grant from the MacArthur Foundation to support their research on alternative strategies to deterrence.

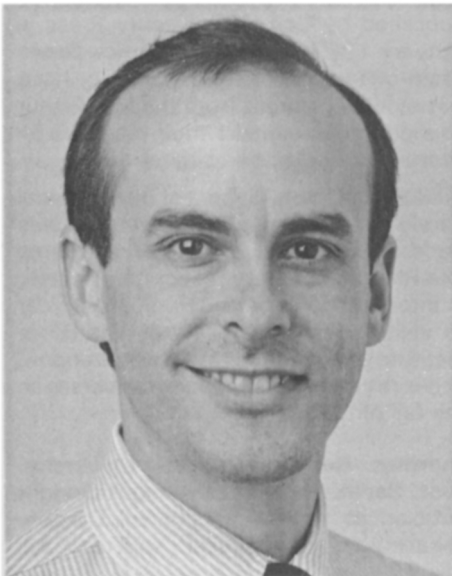

William C. Olson, School of International Service at The American University, was elected as executive director of Sigma Iota Rho, an honorary recognition society in international studies. He spent a year as visiting research fellow at The Royal Institute of International Affairs, London, and is returning to American University in the fall of 1987.

Gunther Rose, Humboldt University, East Berlin, will be Visiting Fulbright Scholar at the University of Oregon, department of political science, fall 1987.

Alberta Sbragia, department of political science, University of Pittsburgh, chaired William C. Olson has been elected executive director of Sigma Iota Rho, an honorary recognition society in international studies.

Barry Weingast has been appointed to the Hoover Institution.

the 1987 fellowship selection committee of the Council for European Studies.

Phillip A. Schrodt, associate professor at Northwestern University, has been named Director of Mathematical Methods in the Social Sciences program at Northwestern and Co-chair of the Committee for International Studies.

Zoltan Tar, New School for Social Research, Graduate Faculty, has received a 1987 National Endowment for the Humanities grant for his project "Georg Lukacs: A Critical Biography."

Sarah M. Terry, associate professor at Tufts University, has been named to the board of the Council for International Exchange of Scholars. She will represent the American Council of Learned Societies.

Barry Weingast has been appointed a senior research fellow at the Hoover Institution, Stanford University.

Administrative Appointments

Steven J. Brams, acting chairman, department of politics, New York University.

David A. Caputo, Dean, School of Humanities, Social Science, and Education, Purdue University, beginning June 1, 1987.

Frank T. Colon, chairperson, department of government, Lehigh University.

Jack Dennis, associate dean, college of letters and science, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Edward Friedman, chair, East Asian Studies Program, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

H. Paul Frieseema, associate professor at Northwestern University, has been named director of the urban studies program at Northwestern.

John A. Gardiner, director, Office of Social Science Research, University of Illinois at Chicago.

Edle N. Goldenberg, professor of political science, University of Michigan, will be the director of the Institute of Public Policy Studies at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, for a three-year period.

Charles T. Goodsell, professor at the Center for Public Administration and Policy at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, has been named Director of the Center, effective September 1, 1987.

Samuel K. Gove has been appointed director of the master of arts in public administration program in the department of political science at the University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign.

Joseph P. Helm, chairman, department of political science, University of Wisconsin-La Crosse.

Richard M. Johnson, chair, department of political science, University of Illinois at Chicago.

Stanley N. Katz, president, American Council of Learned Societies. Katz will continue to teach one day per week at Princeton University.

Helen-Tung Liu has been appointed Vice President and Dean of Faculty at Point Park College effective fall 1987.

Douglas K. Madsen, chair, department of political science, University of Iowa, for a three-year term effective August 1987.

Eleanor Main, Acting Dean, College of Arts and Sciences, Emory University.

James McCormick, acting chair, department of political science, Iowa State University.

James B. Millikan, associate professor of political science at Stonehill College, has been reappointed chairperson for a three-year term.

Peter Nardulli, director of graduate studies, department of political science, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

Kathryn E. Newcomer, reappointed chair in department of public administration, The George Washington University, for a three-year term.

Eric J. Novotny has been appointed director, International Affairs, COMSAT Government Systems, Inc. Novotny is also adjunct professor in the School of David A. Caputo has been named Dean of the School of Humanities, Social Science, and Education at Purdue University.

Hsien-Tung Liu has been appointed Vice President and Dean of Faculty at Point Park College.

People in Political Science

Eric J. Novotny has been made director, International Affairs, COMSAT Government Systems, Inc.

International Service, The American University.

John Rensenbrink, chair, department of government and legal studies, Bowdoin College.

G. Ellis Sandoz, professor of political science at Louisiana State University, has been named director of the newly established Eric Voegelin Institute of American Renaissance Studies.

Brian D. Silver, chair, department of political science, Michigan State University.

James D. Slack, formerly MPA director at Texas Tech University, is now director of the Center for Governmental Research at Central Michigan University.

Barbara Stallings, associate dean, graduate school, University of Wisconsin, Madison.

George T. Sulzner, chair, department of political science, University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

Jorge Tapia-Videla, acting director, Center for Chicano-Boricua Studies, Wayne State University.

David Vital, chair of Jewish studies, Northwestern University.

Jack L. Walker, Jr., chair, department of political science, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, effective July 1, 1987, for four years.

Ronald Weber, director of graduate studies, department of political science, Louisiana State University.

John W. Winkle III, chair, department of political science, University of Mississippi.

James L. Wisner, professor of political science at Loyola University of Chicago, to dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Harold Wolman, acting director, Center for Urban Studies, Wayne State University.

George T. Yu, head of the department of political science at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

New Appointments

Bruce Ackerman, Sterling Professor of Law and professor of political science, Yale University.

Stephen Anderson, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison; formerly doctoral candidate, MIT.

Deborah Baumgold, associate professor, department of political science, University of Oregon; formerly University of Florida.

David R. Beam, associate professor of public administration and director of the MPA program, Stuart School of Business Administration, Illinois Institute of Technology.

Mark Beissinger, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison; formerly Harvard University.

Marlene Benjamin, assistant professor of political science, Stonehill College; formerly University of Massachusetts, Boston.

Merle L. Bowen, assistant professor of political science and African studies at the University of Illinois in Urbana-

Champaign. She will be on leave during academic year 1987-88 as a post-doctoral fellow at the Frederick Douglas Institute of Afro-American Studies at the University of Rochester. She is scheduled to arrive at UIUC in summer 1988.

Paul G. Buchanan, assistant professor of political science, University of Arizona; formerly at the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, California.

Shelley Burt, assistant professor of political science, Yale University.

Dennis Chong, assistant professor, department of political science, Northwestern University; formerly University of California-Berkeley.

Jeffrey Cohen, formerly associate professor at the University of New Orleans, has been appointed an associate professor of political science at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

John A. C. Conybeare, associate professor, department of political science, The University of Iowa; formerly associate professor, Columbia University.

Frank Davis, instructor in government, Lehigh University; formerly a graduate student at North Carolina University.

Irene Diamond, associate professor, department of political science, University of Oregon; formerly University of Southern California.

Lawrence C. Dodd, professor of political science and director of Center for the Study of American Politics, University of Colorado, Boulder; formerly of Indiana University.

Sherry J. Fontaine, assistant professor, department of political science, Memphis State University; formerly of the department of health administration, University of South Carolina.

John P. Forrester, assistant professor of public administration, University of Missouri-Columbia.

Michael Franz, assistant professor of political science, Loyola College in Maryland; formerly of Marquette University.

Beth Fuchs, analyst, social legislation, Education and Public Welfare Division, Library of Congress; formerly Senate Special Committee on Aging.

Charles Glaser, assistant professor, department of political science, University of Michigan; formerly Harvard University.

Kathie S. Golden, assistant professor of political science, Texas Tech University; formerly of the University of Kentucky.

Samuel K. Gove, formerly with the institute of government and public affairs, has been appointed a professor in the department of political science at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

Judith Grant, assistant professor of political science, California State University, Long Beach; formerly Wellesley College.

Kathanne W. Greene, instructor, department of political science, Memphis State University.

Steven Greffenius, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison; formerly doctoral candidate, University of Iowa.

Peter M. Haas, assistant professor, University of Massachusetts at Amherst; formerly postdoctoral research fellow at Woods Hole Oceanographic Institute's Marine Policy Center.

Mary M. Hale, assistant professor of political science, Texas Tech University; formerly of Arizona State University.

Cobie K. Harris, assistant professor of political science, Louisiana State University; formerly at UCLA.

Jo-Anne Hart, instructor, department of political science, Brown University.

Barbara Hinckley, professor of politics, New York University; formerly of University of Wisconsin at Madison.

David Houston, assistant professor, department of political science, University of Mississippi.

William H. Hunt, associate professor of political science, William Jewell College.

Booker T. Ingram, department of political science, Presbyterian College.

Richard Jankowski, assistant professor of political science, University of Arizona; formerly at the University of Iowa.

Calvin C. Jillson, associate professor of political science, University of Colorado,

People in Political Science

Boulder; formerly of Louisiana State University.

William D. Kay, assistant professor, Northeastern University; formerly Kalamazoo College.

Sally Kenney, instructor, department of political science, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

Carol Leach, assistant professor of political science, University of Wisconsin-La Crosse; formerly lecturer, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

James M. Lindsay, assistant professor, department of political science, The University of Iowa; formerly graduate student, Yale University, and special guest, The Brookings Institution.

Cathie Jo Martin, assistant professor, department of political science, Northwestern University; formerly Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Deborah R. Mathieu, assistant professor of political science, University of Arizona; formerly a visiting assistant professor at the University of California, San Diego.

Richard Matthews, associate professor of government, Lehigh University; formerly recipient of NEH grant.

Sylvia Maxfield, assistant professor in department of political science and School of Organization and Management, Yale University.

Robert McCalla, assistant professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison; formerly doctoral candidate, University of Michigan.

John P. McIver, assistant professor of political science, University of Colorado, Boulder; formerly of University of Houston.

Kalpana Misra, visiting instructor of government, Lehigh University; formerly a graduate student at the University of Michigan.

Carol Mock, assistant professor in the department of political science and in the Institute of Government and Public Affairs at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

Stephen Monsma, formerly a deputy director of the Michigan Department of Social Services, has been appointed professor of political science at Pepperdine University.

Calvin Mouw, instructor, University of Missouri-St. Louis; formerly Michigan State University.

Gary Mucciaroni, assistant professor of politics and director of the American Institutions Program, New York University; formerly of Brown University.

Peter Nardulli, formerly with the Institute of Government and Public Affairs, has been appointed as a professor in the department of political science and in the institute of government and public affairs at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

Charles Noble, associate professor of political science, California State University, Long Beach; formerly Rutgers, The State University.

Steven E. (Ted) Perlmutter, assistant professor of politics, New York University; formerly of Harvard University.

Paul J. Quirk, associate professor, University of Illinois at Chicago; formerly University of Pennsylvania.

Karen A. Rasler, formerly of the University of Arizona, has been appointed assistant professor at the University of California, Riverside.

James G. Richter, instructor of political science, Bates College; formerly a graduate student at University of California, Berkeley.

Susan Rose-Ackerman, professor of law and professor of political science, Yale University.

John F. L. Ross, assistant professor, Northeastern University.

Lois W. Sayers, assistant professor, The University of Iowa; formerly Washington State University.

Donna Shalala, professor and chancellor, University of Wisconsin-Madison; formerly Hunter College.

George Shulman, assistant professor of political science, Yale University.

James H. Sidanius, associate professor,

New York University; formerly of University of Texas at Austin and University of Stockholm.

Lee Sigelman, professor of political science, University of Arizona; formerly at the National Science Foundation.

Lana Stein, assistant professor, University of Missouri-St. Louis; formerly University of Georgia.

Sven H. Steinmo, assistant professor of political science, University of Colorado, Boulder; formerly of University of California, Berkeley.

James A. Stimson, professor, department of political science, The University of Iowa; formerly University of Houston.

Mary Stuckey, assistant professor, department of political science, University of Mississippi.

Denis J. Sullivan, assistant professor, Northeastern University.

Thomas M. Trump, assistant professor, University of Illinois at Chicago; formerly University of Minnesota.

Gordon Tullock, professor of political science, University of Arizona; formerly at George Mason University.

Sue Vandenbosch, assistant professor of political science, University of Wisconsin-La Crosse; formerly Jackson State University.

Penny Weiss, formerly of the University of South Carolina at Aiken, joined the Purdue faculty as assistant professor of political science.

Bradford P. Wilson has accepted a joint appointment as professor of political science with tenure and as deputy director of the John M. Ashbrook Center for Public Affairs, Ashland College; formerly research associate to the chief justice, Supreme Court of the United States.

Jurgen Wilzowski, department of international relations, Frankfurt University; still affiliated with Frankfurt Peace Research Institute.

Eugene Wittkopf, professor of political science, Louisiana State University; formerly at the University of Florida.

Promotions

Robert X. Browning, associate professor of political science with tenure, at Purdue University.

Dan Caldwell, professor of political science, Pepperdine University.

Dorothy H. Clayton, assistant professor of political science at East Carolina University, has been granted tenure.

Mary Corcoran, professor, department of political science, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Dennis M. Daley, associate professor, department of political science, University of Mississippi.

Michael A. Diamond, associate professor with tenure and director of graduate studies, department of public administration, University of Missouri, Columbia.

William Green, associate professor, department of government, Morehead State University.

Steven H. Haeberle, associate professor with tenure, department of political science and public affairs, University of Alabama at Birmingham.

Jeffrey A. Hart, professor of political science, Indiana University, Bloomington.

Edward V. Heck, professor, department of political science, San Diego State University.

Michele M. Hoyman, associate professor, University of Missouri-St. Louis.

Rasma Karklins, associate professor with tenure, University of Illinois at Chicago.

Arlene Elowe MacLeod, assistant professor of political science, Bates College.

Gregory Markus, professor, department of political science, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Peter McDonough, professor, department of political science, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Stephen P. Mumme, associate professor with tenure, department of political science, Colorado State University.

Joyce M. Mushaben, associate professor, University of Missouri-St. Louis.

People in Political Science

Carol Nechemias, associate professor with tenure, The Pennsylvania State University at Harrisburg.

Robert C. Oberst, associate professor, political science, Nebraska Wesleyan University.

T. Wayne Parent, associate professor with tenure, department of political science, Louisiana State University.

Huey L. Perry, professor, department of political science, Southern University-Baton Rouge.

Dianne M. Pinderhughes, associate professor of political science, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

Larry Powell, assistant professor of political science, Purdue University.

Lyn Ragsdale, associate professor with tenure, department of political science, University of Arizona.

Mavis Mann Reeves, professor, University of Maryland.

Nancy Rosenblum, professor of political science, Brown University.

Carmine P. F. Scavo, assistant professor of political science, East Carolina University, as of January 1987.

Zachary A. Smith, associate professor, department of political science, University of Hawaii, Hilo.

Barbara Stallings, professor, University of Wisconsin-Madison.

Evelyne Huber Stephens, associate professor with indefinite tenure, department of political science, Northwestern University.

Robert J. Thompson, associate professor with tenure, East Carolina University.

Mukund G. Untawale, associate professor, international relations, San Francisco State University, San Francisco.

Jan P. Vermeer, professor, political science, Nebraska Wesleyan University.

Michael D. Ward, professor of political science with tenure, University of Colorado, Boulder.

Thomas P. Weaver, associate professor with tenure, Presbyterian College.

Robert Whelan, professor, school of urban and regional studies, University of New Orleans.

Ernest J. Wilson III, associate professor, department of political science, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor.

Retirements

Carl Q. Christol, professor emeritus of international law and political science, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, after 38 years of service.

John H. Fenton, University of Massachusetts at Amherst, effective at the end of the fall 1987 semester.

Joseph R. Fiszman, professor, University of Oregon, effective June 1987.

Elliot Goodman, professor, department of political science, Brown University, June 1987.

John M. Howell retired as chancellor of East Carolina University and was appointed to emeritus status in the department of political science, March 1987.

Roy Olton, professor emeritus, Western Michigan University, December 1986.

Jack C. Plano, professor emeritus, Western Michigan University, April 1987.

Ralph Straetz has retired from the department of politics, New York University.

Garold W. Thumm has retired from the department of political science, Bates College.

John C. Wahlke, professor emeritus of political science, University of Arizona, effective June 1987.

Visiting and Temporary Appointments

Stephen J. Anderson, on leave from University of Wisconsin-Madison, will be a research associate during 1987-88 at the Program on U.S.-Japan Relations, CFIA, Harvard University.

Gregory D. Andranovich, visiting assistant professor of political science, Texas Tech University; formerly Research Associate, COSMOS Corporation.

Charles E. Butterworth, University of Maryland, College Park, was a visiting professor at the University of Paris X, Nanterre, during the month of March 1987. He gave a series of lectures in French religion and terrorism in the contemporary Middle East.

Lonny Carlile, visiting instructor, department of political science, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, for academic year 1987-88.

Gerald L. Clayton, lecturer in political science, East Carolina University, fall semester 1987.

Stephen G. Dale, visiting instructor, Texas A&I University.

John Davle, visiting assistant professor at New York University for 1987-88; formerly University of Wisconsin at Madison.

Kathryn G. Denhardt, visiting assistant professor of public administration, University of Missouri-Columbia.

Roy B. Flemming, associate professor, department of political science, Wayne State University, will be at the University of Salford, England, department of politics and contemporary history, during 1987-88 as a participant in a faculty exchange program between the two universities.

Betty Glad, visiting professor at New York University for 1987-88; from University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign.

Mary Hilderbrand, visiting instructor, department of political science, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, for academic year 1987-88.

Michael E. Kraft, on leave from the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay; visiting professor of public policy and administration, Robert M. La Follette Institute of Public Affairs, University of Wisconsin-Madison, spring semester of 1988.

Carol S. Leff, who taught most recently at Washington University, St. Louis, has been appointed as a visiting assistant professor of political science at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign for academic year 1987-88.

Friends and colleagues honored former APSA President John C. Wahlke at the APSA annual meeting on the occasion of his retirement.

Michael H. LeRoy, visiting assistant professor of political science, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, for academic year 1987-88.

Theodore Lowi, visiting professor of political science, academic year 1988-89, Yale University.

Louise Byer Miller, visiting at Union College, Schenectady, from Empire State College.

Michael Minor, Vanderbilt University, visiting assistant professor in the faculty of political science, University of Tulsa, for academic year 1987-88.

Manindra Kumar Mohapatra, Kentucky State University, will be at the Center for South Asian Studies, Cambridge University, as a visiting scholar in 1987-88.

Mark P. Petracca, assistant professor of political science at the University of California, Irvine, will be a visiting professor in the department of international politics at Peking University during the 1987 fall semester. While in Beijing, he will teach courses on American national political institutions, macro-politics, and democratic political theory.

Theodore R. Marmor has been named the first American Fellow of the Canadian Institute for Advanced Research.

Jewel Prestage, Dean, School of Public Policy & Urban Affairs, and professor, department of political science, Southern University, is visiting professor, department of political science, University of Iowa.

Lucille S. Rich, visiting assistant professor of political science, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, for academic year 1987-88.

Gregory Russell, visiting assistant professor, department of political science, and research associate, Eric Voegelin Institute for American Renaissance Studies, Louisiana State University.

Nancy Spalding, visiting assistant professor of political science, East Carolina University, for 1987-88.

Award Recipients

American Council of Learned Societies

The following political scientists have received awards from the American Council of Learned Societies (ACLS). Those who received awards jointly administered by the ACLS and the Social Science Research Council are listed in this section under "Social Science Research Council."

Postdoctoral Fellowship for Senior Scholars

David C. Johnston, assistant professor of political science, Columbia University, for "The Idea of Community."

Postdoctoral Fellowships for Recent Ph.D. Recipients

Jerry G. Watts, assistant professor of political science, Wesleyan University, for "The Political Sociology of Black Intellectuals."

Nicholas Xenos, assistant professor of political science, University of Massachusetts at Amherst, for "Out of Paradise: Scarcity and Modernity."

Grants in Aid for Postdoctoral Research

Jeanne Nienaber Clarke, associate professor of political science, University of Arizona, for "Nature's Warrior: Harold Ickes and the Department of the Interior."

Canadian Institute for Advanced Research

Theodore R. Marmor, professor of public management and of political science at the Yale School of Management, has been named a Fellow of the Canadian Institute for Advanced Research (CIAR). One of three fellows named to the Institute's new Program in Population Health, Marmor is the first American recipient of the fellowship.

CIAR Fellows are appointed for terms of varying length, up to a maximum of five