John Calvin as Teacher, Pastor, and Theologian Randall C. Zachman

080103129X • 288 pp. • $24.99p

"Zachman is fast becoming a premier Calvin interpreter, and this volume shows why. Zachman explores Calvin's calling as teacher and pastor by examining Calvin's concern for godly doctrine and the exposition of Scripture. He also probes Calvin's calling as theologian by showing how Calvin combined hearing the Word of God with actually seeing living images of God—particularly in creation and Christ. Zachman's work expands our perceptions of Calvin's theological work for pastors and ordinary Christians. He leads us to a wider view of the fullness of Calvin's labors and to a deeper appreciation of 'the school of Christ' in which we are all pupils."

—Donald K. McKim, editor, The Cambridge Companion to John Calvin and Calvin and the Bible

The Search for Christian Doctrine of God R. P. C. Hanson

080103146X • 960 pp. • $54.99p

"Hanson has produced a truly useful book—the first new English-language history of the Arian controversy in more than a hundred years. The book can be read as an intriguing narrative, but it is also a handy work of reference. Not all will agree with every judgment Hanson makes, but The Search for the Christian Doctrine of God is an excellent starting point for further study. The paperback edition is a boon: everyone interested in historical theology can—and should—have a copy at hand."—Joseph T. Lienhard, S.J., Fordham University

The Christian College, 2nd ed. William C. Ringenberg

0801031451 • 320 pp. • $21.99p

"The updated version of William Ringenberg's classic, The Christian College, is a valuable resource. Ringenberg notes that Christian colleges are in a stronger position with respect to American society than they have been since the 1930s. In the considerable literature commenting on this flourishing in recent decades, works tend to deal either in broad generalities or in case studies that, while insightful, are inherently limited in scope. Ringenberg's update, like his earlier work, is comprehensive and thorough, making it essential for anyone who wants an accurate picture of the many dimensions of this growing part of American higher education."—George Marsden, University of Notre Dame; author of The Soul of the American University and The Outrageous Idea of Christian Scholarship

Church Mother

The Writings of a Protestant Reformer
in Sixteenth-Century Germany

Katharina Schütz Zell

Edited and Translated by Elsie McKee

Katharina Schütz Zell (1498–1562) was an outspoken religious reformer in sixteenth-century Germany who campaigned for the right of clergy to marry and the responsibility of lay people—women as well as men—to proclaim the Gospel. The complete translations of her extant publications, except for her longest, are collected in Church Mother.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Robert H. Gardiner and the Reunification of Worldwide Christianity in the Progressive Era

John F. Woolverton

“The author’s comprehensive knowledge of Gardiner’s life and thought, drawn from exhaustive research in primary sources, coupled with the book’s rich historical context, skilled analysis, and convincing interpretations, makes this a rich, authoritative, and intellectually provocative study.”—Alfred Moss

In his time, Robert Hallowell Gardiner III (1855–1924) was the heart and soul of the Progressive Era’s movement to establish cooperation among all Christian churches. Gardiner’s legacy today is the World Council of Churches. From his home on the Kennebec River and from the town that bears his family’s name,

Gardiner carried on an extensive letter-writing campaign on behalf of the reunion of worldwide Christianity. John F. Woolverton incorporates Gardiner’s eleven thousand letters, as well as his published speeches and articles and family records, to present the first biography of a man who was a seminal figure in the early twentieth-century Christian ecumenical movement. 288 pages, illustration, $42.50

Karl Barth and Evangelical Theology

Sung Wook Chung, editor

0801031273 • 352 pp. • $27.99p

This work explores the substantial convergences and divergences between Barth's theology and the historic evangelical faith.

Contributors include Gabriel Fackre, Kevin J. Vanhoozer, Sung Wook Chung, Oliver D. Crisp, Henri A. G. Blocher, Kurt Anders Richardson, Frank D. Macchia, Alister E. McGrath, Timothy George, John Bolt, Veli-Matti Kärkkäinen, and John R. Franke. A foreword by Donald Bloesch is also included.

Restoration of Reason

Montague Brown

0801031540 • 272 pp. • $21.99p

Renaissance and Enlightenment philosophers arbitrarily restricted reason, with disastrous consequences for human understanding. In Restoration of Reason, Montague Brown explains why the restoration of reason to its full breadth and power is in order.

This provocative book constitutes a survey of the history of philosophy with regard to a key central question about the nature and aims of philosophical thought.

Calvin's Theology of the Psalms

Herman Selderhuis

0801031664 • 320 pp. • $29.99p

Calvin's Theology of the Psalms investigates the relation between Calvin's biography and his theology according to his commentary on the Psalms. The main section of the book explores Calvin's commentary on the Psalms thematically according to the thesis that Calvin's commentary is vitally interested in the First Person of the Trinity and that his doctrine of God fundamentally informs his biblical interpretation.

Awards of the American Society of Church History:

The Frank S. and Elizabeth D. Brewer Prize, offered annually, is a subvention fund of $1,000 to assist a press in publishing a book-length manuscript in church history. The prize is limited to first books. The monetary grant will be made upon receipt of a commitment in writing from a publisher accepting the manuscript. Entries in their final form must be received by 1 November.

The Albert C. Outler Prize is an award in the amount of $1,000 to the author of the best book published in the two previous calendar years in ecumenical church history. "Ecumenical" is to be construed as concerned chiefly with problems of Christian unity and disunity (doctrinal, cultural, institutional) or with interactions between Christianity and other religious movements in any historical period. Authors of eligible books or any member of the Society may nominate titles for consideration; authors should submit a copy of the book. Nominations must be received by 1 March in even-numbered years.

The Philip Schaff Prize is an award in the amount of $1,000 to the author of the best book published in the two previous calendar years, originating in the North American scholarly community and presenting original research on any period in the history of Christianity. Authors of eligible books or any member of the Society may nominate titles for consideration; authors should submit a copy of the book. Nominations must be received by 1 March in odd-numbered years.

The Jane Dempsey Douglass Prize is an annual award in the amount of $250 for the author of the best essay published during the previous calendar year on any aspect of the role of women in the history of Christianity. Authors of eligible articles and any member of the Society may nominate titles for consideration. Nominations, accompanied if possible by a copy of the article, must be received by 1 August.

The Sidney E. Mead Prize, offered annually, is an award in the amount of $250 for the author of the best unpublished essay in any field of church history written by a doctoral candidate or recent graduate whose manuscript stems directly from doctoral research. The manuscript will be published in Church History. Entries of no more than twenty-five double-spaced pages, including double-spaced endnotes, must be submitted by 1 July.

A work may be submitted for only one ASCH competition. For more information, or to nominate a book or submit a manuscript, write to the American Society of Church History, Yale University Divinity School, 409 Prospect St., Box 473, New Haven, CT 06511.
