EDITORIAL NOTE

The seventeenth meeting of the Society was held in February 1952 and is reported herein. It was arranged that the eighteenth meeting should be held in Newcastle-upon-Tyne in September 1952. Unfortunately, owing to widespread foot-and-mouth disease, that meeting had to be postponed till 1953. Since there was therefore no report to publish, the space has been used to give an account of the activities of the European Association for Animal Production which the Society has recently joined, and for two papers on progeny testing which form a useful introduction to the next meeting of the Society.

The list of recent books on animal breeding is also new. Other items—the lists of members and of research centres—have been brought up to date.

I. L. MASON.
