

Political Scientists, Reporters Named Congressional Fellows

THE HONORABLE THOMAS S. FOLEY

The APSA has announced the winners in the national competition for the 1988-89 Congressional Fellowship Program. Following a one-month orientation beginning in November, Fellows spend nine months working as legislative aides in congressional offices.

The new political science and journalism Fellows are:

Political Science Fellows

Donald C. Baumer, Associate Professor, Department of Government, Smith College.

Ardith Louise Maney, Associate Professor, Political Science Department, Iowa State University.

Robert A. Strong, Associate Professor, Department of Political Science, Tulane University.

Journalism Fellows

Kenton Bird, Editorial Page Editor, Idahoian/Palouse Empire Daily News, Moscow, Idaho, and Pullman, Washington.

William Lewis Graf, State Capitol Reporter, WISC-TV, Madison, Wisconsin. (Mr. Graf is the third recipient of the annual Joan Shorenstein Barone Congressional Fellowship in Broadcast Journalism.)

Daniel R. Popkey, Reporter, The Idaho Statesman, Boise, Idaho.

Sponsored by the Association since 1953, the purpose of the Congressional Fellowship Program is to give outstanding political scientists, journalists, medical faculty, and federal agency executives an opportunity to acquire a rich understanding of the national legislative process.

The 1,256 alumni of the program include university presidents, deans, and professors, newspaper and magazine publishers, editors and reporters, senior-level executives in the federal government, and congressmen and congressional staff aides.

Other participants in the 1988-89 program will include:

Fred Holborn accepts Congressional Fellowship Program Award from alumni association president Leonard Parkinson.
