The British Institute of Archaeology at Ankara was founded in 1948 and exists to undertake, promote and encourage British research into archaeology and related subjects in Turkey and surrounding regions such as the Black Sea littoral.

A small staff at the Institute's premises in Ankara, headed by Dr Roger Matthews as Director, conduct their own research, assist scholars, and maintain the Library and the research collections. The premises in Ankara are a centre for research and house a library of approximately 50,000 volumes. The research collections of archaeobotanical, epigraphic and pottery material, together with a laboratory and computer services, are available free of charge to members of the Institute. The Institute is able to offer to members, for a reasonable charge, the use of accommodation, surveying and photographic equipment, and vehicles.

Seventeen excavations and surveys, as well as museum-based research and publication projects, are currently sponsored by the Institute. Excavations presently supported include those at the Neolithic site of Çatalhöyük directed by Ian Hodder of the University of Cambridge, and at Pichvnari in the Republic of Georgia directed by Michael Vickers of the Ashmolean Museum and Amiran Kakhidze of Batumi Archaeological Museum. Surveys range from the multi-period Project Paphlagonia directed by Roger Matthews of the BIAA, to the investigation of the Iron Age city of Kerkenes Dağ by Geoff Summers of the Middle East Technical University, to the study of the Byzantine Anastasian Wall and associated features conducted by Jim Crow of the University of Newcastle upon Tyne.

Subscription to the Institute costs £25 per annum (£15 for students and those who are unwaged) payable by cheque in £Sterling or US$. Members are entitled to copies of the Institute's journal, Anatolian Studies, and of its annual publication on current research, Anatolian Archaeology, a discount on other Institute publications, notification of conferences and lectures, and access to the library, accommodation and other facilities in Ankara.

Acknowledgements

Many people have contributed to the success of the Fourth Anatolian Iron Ages Colloquium, in terms of both the conference in Mersin and its publication as this special issue of Anatolian Studies. In Mersin we are extremely grateful to the İçel Valiliği, Mersin Büyükşehir Belediyeleri, İçel Sanat Kulübü, Mersin Müzesi, the Garnizon Komutanlığı and the Mersin Hilton for all their help. For tireless assistance with the organisation and conduct of the conference we sincerely thank Prof Dr Veli Sevin, Dr Zafer Derin, Haluk Sağlamtimur, Özlem Çevik, Mehmet Işıklı, Fulya Dedeoğlu, Mücella Erdalkıran, Atila Batmaz and Aylin Erdem.

Prof Dr Altan Çilingiroğlu
Colloquium Secretary

We gratefully acknowledge generous financial support from the British Institute of Archaeology at Ankara. For financial and logistic help, we are greatly indebted to Sn Okan Merzeci, Mersin Belediye Başkanı at the time of the conference, who graciously assisted with so many aspects of the event. His untimely death shortly after the conference was a very sad loss to us all.

During preparation of the conference for publication the kind assistance of Başak Boz, Gina Coulthard, Jim Coulton, Yaprak Eran, Gülğün Kazan, Tom Pollard and Geoff Summers was sincerely appreciated. We thank them deeply for their help.
