

TRANSACTIONS

of the Royal Historical Society

Angeli aut corpus eius accipientes ab illo loco usq; ad montē synay itine plusq; dierum deduxerunt et ibidē sepeluerunt. Et ideinēter oleū manat infirmitates sanās.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Transactions of the Royal Historical Society

Editor

Jan Machielsen, Cardiff University, UK

UK Editorial Board

Dr Gemma Allen, Open University, UK
Dr Matthew Frank, University of Leeds, UK
Dr Jayne Gifford, University of East Anglia, UK
Dr Jasper Heinzen, University of York, UK
Dr Rosamund Oates, Manchester Metropolitan University, UK
Dr Miles Pattenden, University of Oxford, UK
Professor Sarah Pedersen, Robert Gordon University, UK
Professor Paul Readman, King's College London, UK
Dr Sara Ellin Roberts, Aberystwyth University, UK
Dr Clare Siviter, University of Bristol, UK
Dr Vikram Visana, University of Leicester, UK
Dr Simon Yarrow, University of Birmingham, UK

International Advisory Board

Professor Silvio Berardi, Niccolò Cusano University, Italy
Professor Troy Bickham, Texas A&M University, USA
Professor Mariana Candido, Emory University, USA
Professor Rebekah Clements, ICREA and Autonomous University of Barcelona, Spain
Professor Arunima Datta, University of North Texas, USA
Dr Michael Davis, Griffith University, Australia
Dr Moritz Föllmer, University of Amsterdam, The Netherlands
Dr David Monger, University of Canterbury, New Zealand
Dr Alison Downham Moore, Western Sydney University, Australia
Dr Marius Ostrowski, European University Institute, Italy
Professor Susan Pennybacker, University of North Carolina, USA
Dr Ali Raza, Lahore University of Management Studies, Pakistan
Dr David Redvaldsen, University of Agder, Norway
Dr Stephanie Seul, University of Bremen, Germany
Dr Lidia Zanetti Domingues, University of Milan, Italy

Editorial Statement

The Transactions of the Royal Historical Society is the flagship journal of the Royal Historical Society (RHS), the UK's leading membership organisation for professional historians of all kinds. Founded in 1872, Transactions has been publishing the highest quality scholarship in history for 150 years.

Today, the journal welcomes submissions dealing with any geographical area from the early middle ages to the very recent past. The journal's Editors are interested in articles that cover entirely new ground, thematically or methodologically, as well as those that engage critically on established themes in existing literatures. Alongside research articles, contributions that engage with pedagogy and key issues facing the profession are welcome, in keeping with the broad remit and interests of the RHS. Transactions also encourages a range of article formats in which to discuss new research and historical practice, both in higher education and related sectors. In line with the Society's commitment to supporting postgraduate and early career historians, the journal also encourages submissions from younger scholars and seeks to engage constructively and positively with new authors.