Conceptualizing and Measuring Democracy: A New Approach

is delighted to begin publishing

Ethics & International Affairs

for the Carnegie Council for Ethics in International Affairs

Editor-in-Chief:

Joel H. Rosenthal

Carnegie Council for Ethics in International Affairs, USA

Ethics & International Affairs aims to help close the gap between theory and practice (and between theorists and practitioners) by publishing original essays that integrate rigorous thinking about principles of justice and morality into discussions of practical dilemmas related to current policy developments, global institutional arrangements, and the conduct of important international actors. Theoretical discussions that originate in philosophy, religion, or the social sciences should connect with the interests of journalists, activists, policy-makers, and citizens who are primarily concerned with assessing and reforming specific policies, as well as existing rules and institutions such as the United Nations, the World Bank, and the International Monetary Fund; arrangements governing trade, environmental protection, and the use of force; and the International Criminal Court and ad hoc tribunals that address genocide and past societal injustices.

Philosophy for Perspectives on Politics

Perspectives seeks to nurture a political science public sphere, publicizing important scholarly topics, ideas, and innovations, linking scholarly authors and readers, and promoting broad reflexive discussion among political scientists about the work that we do and why this work matters.

A full-length copy of the editorial philosophy appears in Perspectives on Politics 8(1): 7–10 and also on the web at http://www.apsanet.org/content_44375.cfm.

Submission and Review

For submission guidelines, please see http://www.apsanet.org/content_44360.cfm.

Our editorial team discusses all submissions. Those that seem promising are evaluated by several external reviewers—with full confidentiality on both sides—and then accepted, returned for further revisions, or declined with suggestions of more appropriate venues for publication.

About APSA

Founded in 1903, the American Political Science Association is the leading professional organization for the study of political science and serves more than 15,000 members in over 80 countries. With a range of programs and services for individuals, departments, and institutions, APSA brings together political scientists from all fields of inquiry, regions, and occupational endeavors within and outside academe in order to expand awareness and understanding of politics.

The direct advancement of knowledge is at the core of APSA activities. We promote scholarly communication in political science through a variety of initiatives including publishing three distinguished journals: American Political Science Review, Perspectives on Politics, and PS: Political Science and Politics.

THE POLITICS OF RIGHTS

2011 APSA ANNUAL MEETING
Seattle, WA • September 1-4, 2011

Join APSA in Seattle to address the latest scholarship in political science and to explore this year's theme "The Politics of Rights." APSA and the 2011 Program Chairs Frances Hagopian, University of Notre Dame, and Bonnie Honig, Northwestern University, encourage you to attend the 2011 APSA Annual Meeting in Seattle, Washington.

JOIN THE CONVERSATION

Nearly 7,000 political scientists will gather in Seattle to exchange ideas. Take advantage of more than 800 sessions per day.

LOCATION, LOCATION

Seattle boasts a unique combination of vibrant, urban attractions surrounded by incredible natural beauty. Whether it's shopping, dining and the arts you seek, or, waterways, national parks, and mountain peaks, it's all waiting for you there. Visitors to Seattle can also easily access everything from museums and open markets to a temperate rain forest and world-class wine region.

LEARN MORE
