Roman Law in European History

Peter Stein

Roman law has had a huge impact on European legal and political thought. Stein, one of the world's leading legal historians, explains in this masterly short study how this came to be. He assesses the impact of Roman law in the ancient world, and its continued unifying influence throughout medieval and modern Europe. Roman Law in European History is unparalleled in depth, lucidity and authority, and should prove of enormous utility for teachers and students (at all levels) of legal history, comparative law and European Studies.

From Bondage to Contract

Wage Labor, Marriage, and the Market in the Age of Slave Emancipation

Amy Dru Stanley

"Brilliantly researched and skillfully argued, this is a work that transcends genres and subdisciplines, one that historians of gender, of labor, of poverty, legal historians, historians of political thought, public choice theorists, not to mention everybody who identifies as a liberal or a libertarian, will have to confront."

— Hendrik Hartog, Class of 1921 Bicentennial Professor of the History of American Law and Liberty at Princeton University

LAW IN FILM

Resonance and Representation

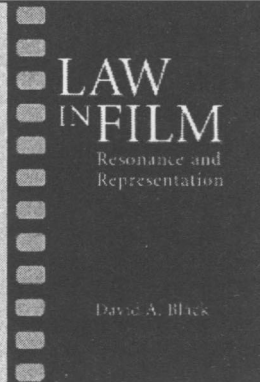

DAVID A. BLACK

“Black’s engaging treatments of the link between law and film are apt in an age that seems to be wrestling with the power of film documentation and camera as witness.”

— John Brigham, author of The Cult of the Court

This study ranges from an inquiry into the common metaphorical ground between film and law, to a critical survey of legal writings about the cinema, to close analyses of key films about law. It reveals the underlying historical, cultural, and cognitive connections between legal and cinematic practices.

American Society for Legal History

ORGANIZATION AND MEMBERSHIP

The American Society for Legal History is a nonprofit membership organization dedicated to fostering scholarship, teaching, and study concerning the law and institutions of all legal systems, both Anglo-American and international. Founded in 1956, the Society sponsors this journal and Studies in Legal History, a series of book-length monographs available to ASLH members at substantial republication discounts. In addition, the Society holds an annual meeting to promote scholarship and interaction among teachers, practitioners, and students interested in legal history, and publishes a semiannual newsletter reporting developments in the field. For further information concerning the Society, please write: Donald Nieman, History Department, Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH 43403.
