

Beckett 2000
Glasgow 17–22 October 2000

Cryptic Productions (Glasgow), the Royal Scottish Academy of Music and Drama and the Department of Theatre Studies, Glasgow University will celebrate the work of Samuel Beckett in a unique Samuel Beckett Festival.

The programme will include theatre, dance, opera, film and photography, with commissions from Scottish and Irish artists, the most innovative international Beckett productions and educational events.

A weekend conference/workshop (20–22 October 2000) will explore fresh approaches to Beckett's work, and is aimed at academics, directors, performers and publishers.

A History of Shakespeare on Screen

A Century of Film and Television

Kenneth S. Rothwell

This book chronicles how film-makers have re-imagined Shakespeare's plays in moving images from their earliest exhibition in nickelodeons to today's multi-million dollar productions. A filmography, bibliography and index of names make it invaluable as a one-volume reference work for specialists but it will also appeal to a more general audience.

The First Quarto of Hamlet

Edited by Kathleen O. Irace

The first printed text of Shakespeare's Hamlet is about half the length of the more familiar second quarto and Folio versions. It reorders and combines key plot elements to present its own workable alternatives. This is the only modernised, critical edition of the 1603 quarto in print.

Shakespeare and the Japanese Stage

Edited by Takashi Sasayama, J. R. Mulryne and Margaret Shewring

Leading Shakespeare scholars from Japan and the West study the interaction of Japanese and Western conceptions of Shakespeare, and the assimilation of Shakespeare into richly traditional theatre practice. There are black and white and full-colour illustrations, and a chronology of Shakespeare performances in Japan.

A History of Russian Theatre

Edited by Robert Leach and Victor Borovsky

This is the first comprehensive history of Russian theatre in English. The History covers the whole range of Russian dramatic experience, from puppet theatre to ballet and grand opera. A key feature of the History is the collection of rare photographs, some published for the first time.

Theatre and Humanism

English Drama in the Sixteenth Century

Kent Cartwright

Kent Cartwright proposes that humanist drama of the sixteenth century is theatrically exciting - rather than literary, elitist and dull as it has often been seen - and socially significant, taking as examples the plays of Marlowe, Heywood, Lyly and Greene, as well as many by lesser-known dramatists.

The Queen's Men and their Plays

Scott McMillin and Sally-Beth MacLean

This is the first book devoted to the Queen's Men, one of the major acting companies of the age of Shakespeare. It refocuses Elizabethan theatre history by concentrating on the company which produced the plays rather than on the authors who wrote them.
