THE JEWISH BODY

by Melvin Konner

A work of grand historical and philosophical sweep, The Jewish Body discusses the subtle relationship between the Jewish conception of the physical body and the Jewish conception of a bodiless God.

"The Jewish Body. . . is a tour de force in examining the meanings associated with Jews and their bodies. . . . [A] good read and a wonderful compilation of materials that deal with the wide range of Jewish bodies, both real and imagined." —Sander Gilman, Forward

WHO WILL WRITE OUR HISTORY?

REDISCOVERING A HIDDEN ARCHIVE FROM THE WARSAW GHETTO

by Samuel D. Kassow

"This may be the most important book about history that anyone will ever read." —The New Republic

In 1940, in the Jewish ghetto of Nazi-occupied Warsaw, the Polish historian Emanuel Ringelblum established a clandestine scholarly organization called the Oyneg Shabes to record the experiences of the ghetto's inhabitants. Shortly before the Warsaw ghetto was emptied in 1943, the Oyneg Shabes buried their massive archive ensuring that the voice and culture of a doomed people would outlast the efforts of their enemies to silence them.

The Image of the Jews in Greek Literature

The Hellenistic Period

BEZALEL BAR-KOCHVA

This landmark contribution to ongoing debates about perceptions of the Jews in antiquity examines the attitudes of writers of the time. Bar-Kochva examines the references of these writers and others to the Jews in light of their literary output and personal background; their religious, social, and political views; their literary and stylistic methods; ethnographic stereotypes current at the time; and more.

Inventing New Beginnings On the Idea of Renaissance in Modern Judaism

ASHER D. BIEMANN

Inventing New Beginnings is the first book-length study to examine the conceptual underpinnings of the “Jewish Renaissance,” or “return” to Judaism, that captured much of German-speaking Jewry between 1890 and 1938. The book addresses two very fundamental, yet hitherto strangely understated, questions: What did the term “renaissance” actually mean to the intellectuals and ideologues of the “Jewish Renaissance,” and how did this understanding relate to wider currents in European intellectual and cultural history of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries?

The Angel of History Rosenzweig, Benjamin, Scholem

STÉPHANE MOSÈS Translated by BARBARA HARSHAV

“With the attentive ear of a literary scholar to the rhetorical texture of texts, the analytical acumen of a philosopher, and the erudition of an intellectual historian, Stéphane Mosès probes the historical consciousness of three of the most seminal figures of German Jewry. Emerging from the trauma of World War One, they questioned the vision of inevitable historical progress. Yet they did not utterly abandon hope in redemption. Evoking the Angel of History who dwells at the dialectical intersection of profane history and messianic time, they continued to affirm the hidden redemptive possibilities of history.”

The Cambridge History of Jewish Philosophy From Antiquity through the Seventeenth Century

EDITED BY STEVEN NADLER AND T.M. RUDAUSKY

The first volume in this comprehensive work is an exploration of the history of Jewish philosophy from its beginnings in antiquity to the early modern period, with a particular emphasis on medieval Jewish thought. Unlike most histories, encyclopedias, guides, or companions of Jewish philosophy, this volume is organized by philosophical topic rather than by chronology or individual figures. There are sections on logic and language; natural philosophy; epistemology, philosophy of mind, and psychology; metaphysics and philosophical theology; and practical philosophy. There are also chapters on the intellectual background of Jewish philosophy, including Islamic and Greek thought and the Jewish philosophical textual traditions. With essays by leading scholars in the field, this volume provides the reader with a wonderful overview of the richness and sophistication of Jewish philosophy in its golden age.

Central European History

Editors:

Kenneth Ledford, Case Western Reserve University, USA
Catherine Epstein, Amherst College, USA

Published for the Central European History Conference Group of the American Historical Association

Central European History offers articles, review essays, and book reviews that range widely through the history of Germany, Austria, and other German-speaking regions of Central Europe from the medieval era to the present. All topics and approaches to history are welcome, whether cultural, social, political, diplomatic, intellectual, economic, and military history, as well as historiography and methodology. Contributions that treat new fields, such as post-1945 and post-1989 history, maturing fields such as gender history, and less-represented fields such as medieval history and the history of the Habsburg lands are especially desired. The journal thus aims to be the primary venue for scholarly exchange and debate among scholars of the history of Central Europe.

Central European History is especially valuable for:

- cultural and social historians
- political scientists
- historians of Central Europe, Germany, and German-speaking regions
- intellectual historians
- military historians

CAMBRIDGE

Editors:

Ted G. Jelen, University of Nevada at Las Vegas, USA
Sabrina P. Ramet, Norwegian University of Science and Technology, Norway

Politics and Religion, published on behalf of the Religion and Politics Section of the American Political Science Association, is a new peer-reviewed journal providing original research into all aspects of the relationship between politics and religion around the world.

The impact of religion on political attitudes, decision-making, and public policy development is analyzed, with topics ranging from abortion laws, sex education in schools, and stem cell research to transnational terrorism, morality, social justice, and human rights.

The journal is multidisciplinary and international in scope, with contributions coming from all relevant areas, including political science, theology, law, philosophy, sociology, history, area studies, and economics. Studies of public religion, secular-religious conflicts, and political divisions within a religion – from within and outside the Judeo-Christian tradition, including works from Islamic, Hindu, Buddhist and scholars of Eastern traditions – are especially welcome.

Book reviews are also part of the journal's coverage.
