

11–14 March 1998

Baltimore, Maryland USA
16th Annual EMS Today Conference and Exposition

Contact: Jems Communication/
Conference Division
Carlsbad, California USA
Telephone: 800–266–5367
Facsimile: 619–431–8135

25–29 March 1998

Vancouver, BC CANADA
7th International Conference on Emergency Medicine: Defining Acute Care Medicine for the 21st Century

Registration On-line:
<http://www.meet-ics.com/7thicem>
Telephone: 604–681–2153
Facsimile: 604–681–1049

22–25 October 1998

Academy of Medicine, Singapore
1st Asian Conference on Emergency Medicine

Telephone: +65–223–8968
Facsimile: +65–225–5155
E-mail: monicaw@pacific.net.sg

23–27 August 1998

Opatija, CROATIA
PECEMS—The Fourth Pan-European Conference on Emergency Medical Systems

Contact: Dr. Eelco Dykstra
Telephone: +3155–360–4490
Facsimile: +3155–360–4491
E-mail: dykstr@hollandmall.com

10–13 May 1999

Okaka, JAPAN
11th Congress of the World Association for Disaster and Emergency Medicine Global Concord for Mitigation of Acute Deaths, Multidisciplinary Efforts

Contact for Abstract and Poster submissions: Tatsuro Kai
E-mail: sccmc-tk@po.ijnet.or.jp
Telephone +81–6–834–7364
Facsimile: +81–6–872–1846
Website:
<http://www.2osk.3web.ne.jp/~wadem11>

ADVERTISING GUIDELINES

Advertising Policy and Guidelines

General Statement

Prehospital and Disaster Medicine (PDM) is a scientifically based, peer-reviewed, medical journal. It is the policy of the editorial office of PDM that all advertising material be sound scientifically and thus meet the following guidelines:

- 1) Claims must be supported scientifically, and references provided—either within the advertisement or made available upon request;
- 2) Every effort must be directed to minimize the likelihood of possible erroneous interpretations of the claims; and
- 3) Advertisements should be aimed at a sophisticated, medical audience.

Review

Each advertisement considered for publication is submitted to the editorial office for review. Any advertisement that does not meet the guidelines will be returned to the advertiser with suggestions for revisions; the editorial office is available for consultation at any time.

Use of these guidelines and the process used for review add to the credibility of PDM and of the product. Questions may be directed to Marvin L. Birnbaum, MD, PhD, Editor-in-Chief; (608) 263-9641; e-mail: mlb@medicine.wisc.edu