JOURNAL OF HYGIENE

PARASITOLOGY

Editorial Notice to Contributors

THE increasing number of papers received by the Editors, the necessity for keeping the size and consequently the cost of the Journal within reasonable bounds, and the desire to avoid undue delay in publication, compel us to make an earnest appeal for help from our Contributors.

We would urge Authors to write their papers as concisely as possible and to reduce tabular and illustrative matter to the minimum that is essential for clear exposition.

The Fabrician Types of Insects in the Hunterian Collection at Glasgow University. Coleoptera, Part I

By R. A. STAIG, M.A.

WITH 28 PLATES IN COLOUR. DEMY 8VO. 25s. NET

The collection of insects here described was made by Dr William Hunter in the eighteenth century. The particular interest of the collection is mainly due to the fact that many of the specimens are the types of insect species founded by Johann Fabricius, the great pioneer of Systematic Entomology.

A Text-Book of Agricultural Entomology

By KENNETH M. SMITH, D.Sc.

WITH A FRONTISPIECE AND 79 TEXT-FIGURES. DEMY 8VO. 12s. 6D. NET

The need for an up-to-date text-book on this subject has long been felt, for the few modern books dealing with insect pests of farm crops in Great Britain are elementary in character. This book is designed for the use of the agriculturist as well as of the agricultural entomologist.
