NEW TO THIS SECOND EDITION

- Extensive coverage of how to do research on the Internet, including how to evaluate and test the reliability of sources
- New information on the visual representation of data
- An expanded bibliography, now with electronic sources

PRAISE FOR THE FIRST EDITION:

“A well-constructed, articulate reminder of how important fundamental questions of style and approach, such as clarity and precision, are to all research.”

—Times Literary Supplement

“A treasure of informed instruction for every level of researcher, from freshmen to the polished professional. . . . A rare textbook, as wise as it is intelligent.”

—Jane Emery, Notes in the Margins

“The authors have written an excellent and to my knowledge unique book. Brief introductions to research, logic, and presentation are usually included in handbooks for first-year composition courses, but I have not hitherto seen a whole book dedicated to the topic and explained so well and in such detail.”—John Cox, Hope College

This new anthology contains the tools students need to read, comprehend, and enjoy the best the world has to offer — including thematic groupings of literature from all over the world, social and historical contexts, comparative timelines, abundant maps, hundreds of images, and much more. It's the first anthology to acknowledge the wide geographical and chronological range of material students are being asked to cover in the world literature course — and then do something about it.

- Six paperback books — available in two packages or as individual texts — correspond to the six periods most commonly taught. Each book features a striking two-color design that showcases the literature, highlights pedagogical features, and sets off the many maps and illustrations to best effect.
- Superb collection of complete longer works, plays, prose, and poems represents the best literature of all time available in English or English translations from around the globe. Unique “In the World” clusters emphasize social and historical contexts.
- Practical and accessible editorial apparatus helps students understand what they read and allows them to place literature in a larger context. Resources inside the anthology include Time and Place boxes, Bibliographies, Connections questions, and a Glossary of Literary and Historical Terms. An extensive Instructor's Manual and a rich Web site, World Literature Online, provide additional support.
