Visual perfection is not everyday fare . . . only an imaginative, integral approach to stage lighting can reach it Century's specialists are Theatre People — they see, feel and think as such — their experience is unchallenged. That's why, as illuminating engineers, they have designed the most comprehensive and the finest stage lighting and control equipment available today provides a highly efficient soft edge beam at all distances. Fine quality construction, economical cost. Available for use either with Tungsten-Halogen or standard incandescent lamps.

LEKOLITE®
the ultimate in precise beam control. These units allow a wide range of sharp, high intensity beams and patterns. For use with Tungsten-Halogen or standard incandescent lamps, most of them interchangeable.

EDKOTRON®
versatile, remote control, packaged electronic dimming system . . . at remarkably low cost. Expandable modular design provides the system with great flexibility to match all possible requirements effectively and economically.
