*America's Foundation in Religious Freedom
 Expanded and Updated*

William Lee Miller

"A remarkable examination of the complex intellectual giants of religious freedom—Jefferson, Madison, and Roger Williams—coupled with a crisp analysis of the Supreme Court jurisprudence which came to buttress the moral foundation of separation of church and state. [C]learly and unequivocally documents the clarity of vision of Jefferson and Madison as they convinced Virginia and the nation to adopt the boldest political idea in modern history: genuine religious freedom for believers and non- believers alike. This is one of the most lucid and engaging examinations of the genesis of religious liberty in American intellectual and legal history."

The Christian Right in American Politics
Marching to the Millennium

John C. Green, Mark J. Rozell, and
 W. Clyde Wilcox, Editors

"This volume brings together twelve timely case studies of Christian Right activism in one of its most influential settings—state politics. The distinguished team of authors highlight the evolving nature of the Christian Right movement and emphasize its varying levels of success and support in different state contexts."

—Laura R. Olson, author of Filled with Spirit and Power: Protestant Clergy in Politics

"The Christian Right in American Politics continues to prove that Green, Rozell, and Wilcox are among the leading scholars of religion and politics in the U.S. today. They and their contributors have given an historical overview of the Christian Right in politics across the country, pointing out the context of its successes and failures in the public arena. Further, they have woven together the meaning of these events into a cohesive picture for the present and future of the U. S. political process and public policy debate. Their contributions are enormous ... again."

LOVE THE SIN

SEXUAL REGULATION AND THE LIMITS OF RELIGIOUS TOLERANCE

Janet R. Jakobsen and Ann Pellegrini

“A brilliant book, one that can move public conversations about sexual, racial, and religious difference beyond present assumptions. Love the Sin suggests that religion can become the ground for sexual freedom rather than the justification for sexual repression.”

—Margaret R. Miles, former Dean of the Graduate Theological Union, Berkeley

In this compelling and carefully argued study, the authors examine the powerful and disturbing connection between religion and sex as they explore the reasons why secular institutions habitually use religion to regulate sexual life.

THE ATHEIST

MADALYN MURRAY O’HAIR

Bryan F. Le Beau

“A thorough account of O’Hair’s struggle . . . her story could not be more timely”

—Publishers Weekly

“Le Beau provides a temperate and dispassionate account of the life of a woman who was seldom either.”

—Newsday

In this first full-length biography, Le Beau offers an engaging assessment of Madalyn Murray O’Hair (1919–1995), “the most hated woman in America” according to Life Magazine. Drawing on original research, O’Hair’s diaries, and interviews, Le Beau traces her development from a child of the depression to the dictatorial woman who founded American Atheists and challenged the legality of The Pledge of Allegiance in schools and “In God We Trust” on U.S. currency.
