Centre for Philosophy and Public Affairs

Tennent Caledonian and Royal Bank of Scotland
Research Fellowships 1989-90

Applications are invited for these Research Fellowships for the academic session 1989-90. The fellowships are intended primarily, though not exclusively, for philosophers and political theorists on study leave from their own universities. Appointment is normally for one term and the fellowship carries a travel allowance, accommodation in St Andrews and a room in the Department of Moral Philosophy, and access to word-processing facilities. Further details are available from the Director, Dr John Haldane, Centre of Philosophy and Public Affairs.

Applications, including a c.v., a short statement of research intentions or plans, and an indication of the term during which the fellowship would be held, should be submitted to:

The Establishments Officer,
University of St Andrews,
ST ANDREWS,
Fife, KY16 9AL.

THE REVIEW OF POLITICS

THE REVIEW OF POLITICS is a quarterly journal which is published by the University of Notre Dame. Without neglecting the analysis of institutions, the REVIEW OF POLITICS is primarily interested in the philosophical and historical approach to political realities. Now in its 47th year of publication, the REVIEW OF POLITICS continues to present a uniquely international selection of scholarly articles on important issues of political theory and world politics.

ECONOMICS AND PHILOSOPHY

Cambridge
Journals

EDITORS:

Daniel Hausman, Carnegie-Mellon Univ.
Michael McPherson, Williams College

Economics and Philosophy is designed to foster collaboration between economists and philosophers and to bridge the increasingly artificial disciplinary boundaries that divide them. Frequently, economists acknowledge that their work in both positive and normative economics depends on methodological and ethical commitments that demand philosophical study and justification. Philosophers increasingly insist that philosophy of science must be informed by and tested against studies of current science and of its history, while ethics and political philosophy must depend on what we know about human aims and interests and about the principles, benefits, and drawbacks of different forms of social organization.

Selected papers:

Property and Hunger, Amaryta Sen

Utility-Enhancing Consumption Constraints, David Levy

How to Combine Rhetoric and Realism in the Methodology of Economics, Uskali Mäki

Economic Methodology: Rhetoric of Epistemology?,
Steven Rappaport

Economics Is Too Important to Be Left to the Rhetoricians, Alexander Rosenberg

Ethics

Since 1890, a resource of contemporary, interdisciplinary perspectives

Ethics is devoted to the study of the ideas and principles that form the basis for individual and collective action. Contributors examine and debate the full scope of ethical issues in moral philosophy, political theory, public policy, jurisprudence, and the social sciences.

Publishing about 1,000 pages each volume, Ethics presents about 30% more material than many other philosophical journals, and has the largest circulation of scholarly journals in social philosophy.

Ethics' international editorial board consists of scholars from all relevant disciplines: psychology, theology, anthropology, social choice theory, philosophy, political science, and law. Together they provide you with the interdisciplinary exposure and synthesis of knowledge so necessary to your work.

Ethics frequently publishes symposia and special issues, which bring concentrated attention to subjects of particular interest. Count on Ethics to engage you in today's significant intellectual controversies.

Ethics reviews more books than any other journal in the field, bringing you incisive coverage of about 200 new publications in each volume. Choose the next additions to your collection from Ethics' complete source.

ETHICS an international journal of social, political, and legal philosophy

One-year subscription rates: Institutions: $45.00; Individuals: $25.00; APA Individual Members: $20.00; Students (with copy of ID): $18.00. Outside USA add $3.00. Visa or Master Card accepted. Philosophy & Public Affairs

"PHILOSOPHY & PUBLIC AFFAIRS was created to promote the discussion of matters of public concern, and to bridge the gap that exists between philosophers and those in other disciplines who are working on questions that raise philosophical issues. The journal has maintained a high level of discussion from the start."

— Peter Singer,

The New York Times Magazine

Articles from recent issues include:

- The Priority of Right and Ideas of the Good by John Rawls
- Advance Directives and the Personal Identity Problem by Allen Buchanan
- The Equalization of Legal Resources by Alan Wertheimer
- Toleration and Free Speech by David A.J. Richards
(review essay)
- Rawls on Teleology and Deontology by Will Kymlicka
- Political Obligation and the Argument from Gratitude by A.D.M. Walker
