

GRAMMAR AS SCIENCE

Richard K. Larson

This new introductory text examines syntax as an exercise in scientific theory construction, and covers such core topics in syntax as phrase structure, constituency, the lexicon, inaudible elements, movement rules, and transformational constraints.

"Larson's book is an engaging and delightfully lucid introduction to the scientific nature of linguistic argumentation. While thoroughly covering the basics of syntax, it also shows students explicitly how to 'think like a linguist.' Students who use this book will come away with an extraordinarily strong grasp of the real underpinnings of linguistics."

LOCALITY IN VOWEL HARMONY

Andrew Nevins

This book investigates long-distance relations between vowels in vowel harmony systems across a range of languages, with the aim of demonstrating that the locality conditions that regulate these relations can be attributed to the same principle that regulates long-distance syntactic dependencies.

UTTERING TREES

Norvin Richards

A study of the interface between syntax and phonology that seeks deeper explanations for such syntactic problems as case phenomena and the distribution of overt and covert wh-movement. The book draws extensively on linguistic data from a variety of languages, including Japanese, Basque, Tagalog and Spanish.

THE PRIMACY OF GRAMMAR

Nirmalangshu Mukherji

"This wide-ranging monograph provides a masterly and lucid overview of Chomsky's 'Biolinguistics' enterprise and builds on it to offer a novel account of the nature of the human faculty of language. The core of that faculty is our tacit knowledge of grammar, the unique domain where the methodology of the hard sciences has been fruitfully applied to human cognition. In a tightly-argued and challenging discussion, Mukherji goes on to suggest that there is a single computational system underlying all of language, music, mathematics and logic...Mukherji's work is likely to trigger admiration and outrage in equal measure. It is an elegant achievement."

LANGUAGE AND EQUILIBRIUM

Prashant Parikh

"... an extraordinarily ambitious and creative work whose goal is nothing less than a complete rethinking of the nature of linguistic meaning and the relationship between semantics and pragmatics...Not only a technical tour de force, this work offers a novel perspective on fundamental issues in linguistics and philosophy of language, one which is deeply stimulating and rewards careful study." — Robert Frank, Yale University

SUPERTAGGING

Using Complex Lexical Descriptions in Natural Language Processing

Edited by Srinivas Bangalore and Aravind K. Joshi

This volume investigates the theme of employing statistical approaches with linguistically motivated representations and its impact on Natural Language Processing tasks. In particular, the contributors describe research in which words are associated with Supertags that are the primitives of different grammar formalisms.

Editorial policy The Journal of Linguistics has as its goal to publish articles that make a clear contribution to current debate in theoretical linguistics. The language of submission and publication is English.

Preparation and submission of manuscripts Manuscripts should be formatted as for A4 paper (US 11" × 8.5") with margins of at least 3 cm (1.5") on all four sides, double-spaced and with a 12 pt font. PLEASE NOTE THAT ONLY PAPERS OF NO MORE THAN 60 DOUBLE-SPACED PAGES, INCLUDING REFERENCES AND FOOTNOTES, WILL NORMALLY BE ACCEPTED. If a longer manuscript is submitted for some particular reason, the covering note must state a case for an exception to this limit.

Authors should normally submit the manuscript as a PDF file to the Managing Editor by e-mail, with the main body of the e-mail message containing (i) the name(s) of the author(s) and full contact details; (ii) the full title of the paper; (iii) an abstract of about 200 words summarising the content of the paper; (iv) a statement about the length of the paper in page numbers. The published version of an article includes an abstract; all abstracts are sent to potential referees. While the PDF format is preferred at the time of submission, authors may submit the manuscript in the DOC format. In some cases, authors may be asked to send a hard copy of the submission by post.

For the purpose of refereeing, the electronic copy of an article should be anonymous: the name(s) of the author(s) should not be included in the file and in the file's 'Properties' and, as far as possible, the author(s) should not be identifiable from the references in the text or the acknowledgements. All submitted papers will normally be read by two anonymous referees. The identity of the author(s) of a review article is revealed to the referees but the referees normally remain anonymous.

Accepted papers have to be formatted in accordance with the journal's style and submitted in a file (or files) compatible with PC/Windows XP/MS Word. The journal welcomes articles and book reviews formatted in (La)Tex.

The full set of notes for contributors is available from the journal's web page and from the Managing Editor.

Proofs will be presented as PDF files for the authors to correct. In the case of co-authored articles, the proofs will be sent to the first-named author, unless otherwise requested. Please inform the Managing Editor of any relevant changes of e-mail addresses occurring between the submission of the final version of the paper and the expected release of the proofs. The proofs should be corrected within three days of receipt and returned immediately. Detailed proofing instructions will be found with the proof.

THE LINGUISTICS ASSOCIATION OF GREAT BRITAIN

The Linguistics Association of Great Britain was founded in 1959 to promote the study of linguistics and to provide for its members both a forum for discussion and facilities for cooperation in furtherance of their interest in linguistics. The Association holds annual autumn meetings, at which original papers are presented in plenary sessions and in workshops devoted to special interests.

Persons interested in linguistics are eligible for election as members, subject to the approval of the Committee. Subscribing members may receive the Journal of Linguistics at a substantial discount. Application forms for membership may be obtained from the Membership Secretary, address as below.
