The AMERICAN JOURNAL OF LAW & MEDICINE was founded in response to the need for a scholarly yet pragmatic publication encompassing all aspects of medicolegal relations. The JOURNAL seeks to provide a broad perspective on our complex health care system, to encourage interdisciplinary communication, and to stimulate creative solutions to the pressing medicolegal problems of our time.

In addition to serving as a forum for analyses and proposals in such areas as health law and policy, legal and insurance medicine, and bioethics, the JOURNAL offers a wide variety of pertinent reference materials in these and related areas.

The JOURNAL serves persons from a variety of fields who seek to understand and influence medicolegal developments: physicians, other health care providers, and health administrators; lawyers; health analysts and planners; researchers and educators in health specialties; judges, legislators, and government administrators; insurance officials; consumer advocates; and concerned members of the general public.

The JOURNAL is published in the Spring, Summer, Fall, and Winter for the American Society of Law & Medicine by the MIT Press, Cambridge, Massachusetts, and London, England. Editorial Support is provided by Boston College Law School and Boston University School of Law. All decisions concerning the content of the JOURNAL are made by the Editor-in-Chief on behalf of the American Society of Law & Medicine. Statements of fact and opinion are the responsibility of the authors alone, and are not necessarily endorsed by the Editors, the publishers, or the Society.

The Editors invite the submission of manuscripts on medicolegal topics. For details, see inside back cover. Editorial communications, including original manuscripts and requests for permission to reproduce JOURNAL material, should be addressed to Editor-in-Chief, American Journal of Law & Medicine, 454 Brookline Avenue, Boston, Massachusetts 02215. Editorial phone: (617) 969-0100, ext. 4394.

Business correspondence, including subscription matters, should be addressed to American Journal of Law & Medicine, MIT Press, 28 Carleton Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts 02142. Claims for missing copies must be made immediately upon receipt of the next published issue.

Subscriptions: $25.00 for individuals and $35.00 for institutions (foreign subscribers add $3.00 for postage). Back copies: $9.00 apiece. For back issues from Volumes 1 and 2, write to 454 Brookline Avenue; for later issues, write to 28 Carleton Street.

Advertising: Price list available from Journals Department, MIT Press, 28 Carleton Street, Cambridge, Massachusetts 02142.
