Melville's Quarrel With God

By LAWRENCE THOMPSON. "This book will upset Melville readers more than any book about his mind and art published in many years. There will be controversy in which the brilliance of many of the analyses, the subtlety and soundness of many of the perceptions will be ignored as the brickbats fly."—N.Y. Times.
475 pages, $6.00

The Alien Vision of Victorian Poetry

Sources of the Poetic Imagination in Tennyson,
Browning, and Arnold

By E. D. H. JOHNSON. A fresh appraisal based on the theory that Victorian literature is in large part the product of a double awareness—the artist's consciousness of an expanding public, and his often contradictory need to remain faithful to his private creative insights. The author attempts to penetrate the conventional surface of Victorian poetry and to reveal the unsuspected aspects of beauty and significance concealed beneath.
$4.00

More's Utopia The Biography of an Idea

By J. H. HEXTER. This fresh analysis of the Utopia shows how the idea for the book grew in the author's mind and the way in which the book was put together, and then relates More's conceptions at the time of writing to his personal situation and the general pattern of Christian humanism.

History of Ideas Series, No. 5. $3.00
