

Oryx 100% Fund

The following grants have been made from the Oryx 100% Fund:

- £500 to the Durham University Himalayan Expedition to complete a study of the Himalayan tahr in Langtang National Park;
- £500 to the University of East Anglia Nepal Expedition for surveys of the pygmy hog and hispid hare;
- £500 to Professor Daniel Torres-Navarro, University of Chile, for studies of the fur seal on Juan Fernandez;
- £300 to Katherine Homewood and Margaret Renshaw to study infant development and socialisation in the Tana mangabey, part of a continuing study of this endangered monkey;
- £300 to Godofredo Stutzin for camera equipment and binoculars for the use of guards protecting the Chilean huemul;
- £250 to Dr E. O. Moll, East Illinois University, for development of a management programme for Malaysian sea and river turtles;
- £250 to Sompoad Srikosarmatara, Mahidol University, Bangkok, for a study of the pileated gibbon in the Khao Soi Dao Wildlife Sanctuary;
- £250 to the Wildlife and Nature Protection Society of Sri Lanka to offset costs of conservation leaflets for tourists (Oryx, Dec. 1977, p.117);
- £20 to J. A. Fowler of Leicester Polytechnic for ecological studies in the maritime approaches to the Sullom Voe Oil Terminal, Shetland.

Legacies and Gifts

FPS is most grateful for the following gifts of £20 and over, totalling £9794, and for other smaller gifts received between October 1977 and March 1978:

Legacies

L. Sheriff	£6300
Mrs G.H. Soward	£25

Gifts

Anonymous	£2000
Dr A.A. Spriggs	£50
Mrs V.H. Williams	£25

Oryx 100% Fund

St Katharine's Fund (including £450 earmarked for the East African Wild Life Society)	£750
F. Hammer (earmarked for whales)	£500
K. Richards	£50
C.A. Winnington Ingram	£30
S. Rostron	£24
Miss M.R. Silverman	£20
Mrs. J.M. Watt	£20

Grevy's Zebra and Mountain Gorilla Appeals

Early this year FPS launched appeals for two endangered species: Grevy's zebra in Kenya and the mountain gorillas on the Rwanda-Zaire border, both under attack from poachers. By March 31 nearly £500 had been received for the zebra and nearly £4000 for the gorillas. A report on these appeals will appear in the next issue.