Dissonant Worlds

Roger Vandersteene
Among the Cree

Earle H. Waugh

Paper $24.95 • 0-88920-278-8
20 b&w, 8 colour photos

Now available in PAPER!

Vandersteene, a Flemish Oblate missionary inspired by the spirituality of the Cree, devoted his life to integrating Cree tradition and Catholicism, in a dramatic revision of Catholic ritualism. Earle Waugh traces Vandersteene's remarkable career: his life among the Cree, his intensive study of the Cree language and folkways, his status as a Cree medicine man, the evolution of his views on the relationship between aboriginal traditions and Roman Catholics, and his use of paintings, poetry and liturgical modifications to create a new religious reality.

From the critics...

"Waugh carries the reader along with him in his fascination with the complexities of the sorcerer cum priest/prophet that was Vandersteene. His biography is particularly effective when dealing with Steentje's Flemish background and exploring the ways in which it prepared him for his northern mission. Waugh's own knowledge of Cree—he is compiling a Cree dictionary—adds an essential dimension. If, like Vandersteene, he has not found all the answers, he still presents a thoughtful and very interesting analysis of some fundamental problems that have plagued the missions."
— The Catholic Register

"Vandersteene's ideas about the relationship of aboriginal traditions to Catholicism, well documented here, are seen as one of the most important legacies of interreligious encounter in Canada this century."
— National Catholic Reporter

"This biography is as respectful and sensitive to Vandersteene's religious vision as he was to that of his Cree companions... As much a work of spirituality and theology as of history and biography, this text is highly recommended for students in religious studies, Catholicism, Native and Canadian history, philosophy and cultural studies."

The Center of Church and Worship

CARL E. BRAATEN

MOTHER CHURCH Ecclesiology and Ecumenism

An energetic call for an ecumenical church, including a Lutheran rationale for recovery of the historical episcopacy and papal primacy as servants of the gospel. Quoting Augustine's dictum that "You cannot have God for your father unless you have the church for your mother," Braaten writes of the church's place in the divine scheme of things and of the various modernisms that distort or hide the classical Christian tradition.

THE ECUMENICAL INTERNATIONAL RESOURCE FOR THE CHURCH OF THE 21ST CENTURY

UNIENDO EL ESPIRITU DE MUCHAS CULTURAS DEL
MUNDO PARA LA IGLESIA DEL SIGLO XXI

The International Bible Commentary

William R. Farmer, Editor; Armando Levoratti, Sean McEvenue, and
David L. Dungan, Associate Editors; André LaCocque, Map Editor

Initiated by international scholars as a Catholic and ecumenical, academic and pastoral enterprise, The International Bible Commentary brings together many voices speaking from different cultural perspectives to interpret God's word in the Bible. These voices, gathered from South America, Europe, Australia, Africa, North America, India, Asia, and the Philippines, have written their commentaries and articles from a variety of perspectives so that the spirit of many world cultures can be experienced in the celebration of the Bible today.

The International Bible Commentary enables people to read and teach the Bible by helping them to recover the ancient biblical truth in all its warmth and power, yet within modern contexts. The international strength of this work is confirmed by the participation of publishers who are committed to producing editions in English, Spanish, French, Italian, and Polish.

Includes sixteen pages of full color maps and a series of line-drawings especially prepared for this commentary that highlight sites of particular importance.
