

GOSPEL FICTIONS

by Randel Helms

According to this provocative book, the four Gospels of the New Testament are fictional narratives—idealistic writings produced to serve a theological vision. Randel Helms uses the method of literary analysis to examine the most familiar and powerful of these fictions: the stories of Christ's birth, his agony in the Garden of Gethsemane, his betrayal by Judas, his crucifixion, death, and resurrection.

Randel Helms, a noted biblical scholar, is professor of English at Arizona State University.

"This book represents scholarship well communicated."

—Joe E. Barnhart, University of North Texas

"The succinctness and lucidity with which Helms writes makes this topic available to those who might be put off by more elongated and opaque approaches."

—Perspectives on Science and Christian Faith

"Gospel Fictions is a treasure . . . a scholarly gem of detective work!"

—John J. Preisinger, M.D.

Understanding the Fourth Gospel

JOHN ASHTON

The first comprehensive study of St John's Gospel for almost forty years, which attempts to provide new and coherent answers to the two great riddles of the Gospel: its position in the history of Christian thought, and its central or governing idea.

The Lordship of Christ

Ernst Käsemann's Interpretation of Paul's Theology

DAVID WAY

From its context in German Protestant theology, Käsemann's Pauline interpretation is systematically analysed and emphasis is given to the major theological themes which identify the continuing significance of his interpretation.

The Word and the Christ

An Essay in Analytic Christology

RICHARD STURCH

Among the wide range of criticisms of Christological orthodoxy now current, there has appeared until now no comprehensive summary of the attacks, and consequently no full defence of the orthodox position.

Probability and Theistic Explanation

ROBERT PREVOST

The past twenty years have seen a revival of interest in the epistemic status of religious belief. Two philosophers who have led the way are Basil Mitchell and Richard Swinburne. This book compares their differing styles of justifying religious belief.

Lancelot Andrewes, the Preacher (1555–1626)

The Origins of the Mystical Theology of the Church of England

NICHOLAS LOSSKY

This is the first major study of Andrewes's theology, and illustrates his insights with long quotations from the sermons.

How to Read Karl Barth

The Shape of his Theology

GEORGE HUNSINGER

Rather than trying to find one definitive 'key' or 'central concept' in Barth's massive opus, Hunsinger presents a sophisticated array of modes of thought that serve as a guide to and method of understanding the many facets of his writing.

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

1. Contributions in duplicate and books for review should be sent to Mr Peter Byrne at Department of Theology and Religious Studies, King's College London, Strand, London WC2R 2LS.
2. Articles submitted to the journal should in general be between 5,000 and 10,000 words long, though articles outside these limits will be acceptable if there is some good reason for their exceptional length or brevity. Articles in two or more parts may occasionally be accepted provided each part is independently intelligible. They should normally be in English.
3. Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not previously been published, or is not being considered for publication elsewhere.
4. Contributions should be clearly typed in double spacing, preferably on A4 paper, with a wide left-hand margin. The typescript should be prepared to accord as closely as possible with the typographical conventions of the journal.
5. Footnotes should be used sparingly: in general, to give sources of direct quotations, references to main authorities on disputable questions, and evidence relied on for a new or unusual conclusion. They should be numbered in one sequence throughout the article, and should preferably be typed in double spacing at the end of the article.
6. Contributors should keep one copy of the typescript for correcting proofs.
7. First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the Editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return the corrected proofs to the Editor, by airmail where necessary, within ten days of receiving them.
8. Correction should be kept to an absolute minimum. It should be confined to errors of the typist or printer unless the Editor authorises otherwise.
9. All contributors of articles receive 50 free offprints. Reviewers will receive five or more offprints of their reviews.
10. If rejected manuscripts are to be returned, stamps or international coupons should be sent to cover postage, but it would normally be simpler just to retain a copy.
11. Contributors of accepted articles will be asked to assign their copyrights, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press, to help protect their material, particularly in the USA.
