A Parliamentary Dictionary

By L. A. ABRAHAM, C.B., C.B.E., M.A., Barrister-at-Law, Principal Clerk of Committees, House of Commons, and S. C. HAWTREY, B.A., a Senior Clerk in the Journal Office, House of Commons. 21s. net, by post 1s. 6d. extra.

This new reference book defines and explains at some length the expressions in common usage in the Houses of Parliament. The subjects discussed are set out under bold headings, alphabetically arranged for easy reference.

The Lawyer's Remembrancer and Pocket Book 1957

This handy reference book contains 350 pages of useful information for lawyers, together with a diary for the year. Ordinary or Refill Edition: 15s. net, by post 9d. extra.

Munkman on Damages for Personal Injuries and Death

By JOHN MUNKMAN, LL.B., Barrister-at-Law. 25s. net, by post 1s. 2d. extra.

This concise reference book contains a complete statement of the principles of the law involved, together with a broad classification of the types of cases which occur and typical illustrations of awards. The book will thus provide valuable guidance when similar cases arise.

Hailsham and McEwen on Monopolies, Restrictive Trade Practices and Resale Price Maintenance

By The Rt. Hon. the VISCOUNT HAILSHAM, Q.C., M.A., and ROBIN MCEWEN, M.A., Barrister-at-Law. 22s. 6d. net, by post 1s. extra.

This new book (specially reprinted from Butterworths Annotated Legislation Service) is in the form of a narrative showing the background, scope and meaning of the new Act, with a detailed review of its provisions, explaining matters in the order in which they are likely to arise in actual practice.

Plucknett's Concise History of the Common Law

Lloyd and Montgomerie on Business Lettings

By DENNIS LLOYD, M.A., LL.B., Barrister-at-Law, Quain Professor of Jurisprudence in the University of London. and JOHN MONTGOMERIE, B.A., Barrister-at-Law. 50s. net, by post 2s. extra.

The authors of this book approach the legal problems connected with business lettings from a new angle—first, they advise on the action to be taken by the landlord or tenant in particular circumstances, then they expound the law so as to show why that action was necessary. In this way, readers will not only have full practical guidance but will also come to a rapid understanding of the principles involved.

THE COUNCIL OF EUROPE

its Structure, Functions and Achievements

by A. H. Robertson

The Council of Europe represents one of the principal forces working for unity in contemporary Europe. Its most distinctive feature is its Consultative Assembly in which over 200 members of parliament from 15 countries work together in the formulation of European policies and the elaboration of plans for European co-operation. The constitution of this Assembly exemplifies for the first time the projection on to the international plane of the principle of parliamentary participation in public affairs.

This is the first work to give a comprehensive account of what the Council is and what it is trying to do. It describes in detail the duties and responsibilities of the Committee of Ministers, the Consultative Assembly, and the Secretariat. It examines the full range of the Council's activities—in the fields of political and economic problems, social and cultural matters, human rights, legal and other questions. It concludes with a description of the Council's relations with the United Nations and other International and Non-Governmental Organisations.

The Author has seen from the inside the workings of the Council. His book will do much to make public its achievements.
