REPORT FOR THE SESSION 1970-71

Finance

The Society's accounts for 1970 close with a surplus of £2,107 in comparison with a surplus of £4,032 for 1969. Income was £453 higher than in 1969, but total expenditure increased by £2,178. The higher expenditure was mainly due to the larger size of the 1970 Journal, which cost (net) £1,380 more than last year. The production costs of Supplementary Paper No. 12, 'The Santorini Volcano and the Desolation of Minoan Crete' came to £1,798; this expenditure is carried forward as an asset of stock in hand in the balance sheet. The cost of Archaeological Reports was also higher, by £308; the library maintenance account was up by £250; printing, stationery and accounting were up by £240.

The favourable financial position maintained in spite of extra expenses was due to the following factors: the van Buren settlement provides a steady basic income which came to £780 in 1970; total receipts from the sale of current and back numbers of the Journal were £1,626, £421 more than in 1969 and the highest ever recorded; as the stock of back numbers is almost exhausted this total was only reached by the purchase and resale of several long runs of back numbers; generous grants, each of £200, were again received from the British Academy and the H. A. Thomas Fund of Cambridge University; the balance on deposit account remained high during the year, as did the Bank Rate, in consequence of which £615 deposit interest was received.

Increases in salaries, postage and printing are forecast, resulting in an estimated surplus for 1971 considerably reduced to approximately £800.

Obituary

Miss J. E. Southan

The Hellenic Society, like the Roman Society and the Institute of Classical Studies, has suffered a severe loss in the sudden death, on April 6th from a virus infection, of Miss J. E. Southan. A graduate of the University of Manchester, she entered the Joint Library, as it was then called, as a junior assistant in 1939 and was appointed Librarian for both the Societies and the University of London in 1952 when the Institute of Classical Studies was founded. In this capacity she has taken the leading part in building the library up to its present strength. Among qualities which marked her office were clear mindedness, a grasp of essentials, robust commonsense, an exemplary neatness of routine and sympathy with visitors, enquirers and staff alike. Resolutely rejecting any idea of empire building she showed herself unafraid of hard work and long hours. There can be few members or visitors, whether from the old days in Bedford Square or more recently in Gordon Square, who will not call to mind immediately some act of personal kindness for which she was directly responsible.

The Council records with great regret the deaths of the following members:—

Professor Sir John Beazley, a Vice-President and M. S. Thompson, Hon. Treasurer from 1934 to 1950; also of: Miss E. Archibald; Miss I. Ashcroft; Professor E. Fraenkel; J. S. B. George; Dr G. van Hoorn; R. W. Hutchinson; Professor A. H. M. Jones; J. McDonald; Dr M. I. Machin; Miss G. H. A. Nash; R. M. Rattenbury; Professor L. R. Shero; G. A. D. Tait; Miss Lucy Talcott; and an honorary member, Professor A. W. Byvanck.

Journal of Hellenic Studies

Volume XC of the Journal was published in November but dispatch was delayed until early December by the late publication of Archaeological Reports. The volume was 100 pages longer than the 1969 Journal, thanks to the increased funds available, and the backlog of material has now been eradicated. As the last full Index of the Journal was published in Volume LXI, 1941, arrangements have now been made for the indexing of Volumes LXI to XC.

The Archaeological Reports were published in early December. Financial support was again received from the British School at Athens. Sales throughout the year continued at a satisfactory rate.

Supplementary Paper No. 12: The Lord Northcliffe Lectures, given by Professor Denys Page at University College London, were published in November as a new Supplementary Paper under the title 'The Santorini Volcano and the Desolation of Minoan Crete'. It is selling steadily at £1.20 plus postage.

Joint Library

The Library had another busy and crowded year. Since any kind of expansion does not at present appear feasible, it seems best to concentrate on providing the most efficient possible service to readers within the limitations of the existing staff and space.

5,221 books were borrowed by 763 members during the year. (Last year's figures were 5,528 books borrowed by 719 members). 265 parcels of books were sent by post, 1,377 xerox copies were made by the Library staff, mostly for other Libraries, since readers in the Library are asked to do their own copying.

1,032 books were added to the Library—620 by the Joint Library and 412 by the Institute. 367 periodicals are currently taken, 270 by the Joint Library (including 194 by exchange) and 97 by the Institute (including 59 by exchange).

360 books were bound (213 by the Joint Library and 147 by the Institute) and 153 periodicals (110 by the Joint Library and 43 by the Institute.)

Thanks are due to the following for gifts to the Library: Dr R. D. Barnett, Professor M. Bieber, Dr G. Biegel, Professor G. Bozonis, Professor I. A. F. Bruce, Professor W. M. Calder III, Professor J. L. Caskey, Miss E. Clay, Mr B. F. Cook, Dr Ch. Dumas, Dr V. L. Ehrenberg, Mr D. Elkington, Dr J. Fitz, Professor K. A. Garbrah, Mr P. S. Georgioudakis, Dr W. Gerressen, Dr M. Grant, Mr J. #### The Slides Collection

During the year the slides collection was extensively used, and the duplication of slides increased, mainly owing to a large order from the University of Ottawa, Canada.

The number of individual slides borrowed was 2,020. The 51 sets of slides also hired brought the total number to 4,315, about 1,600 fewer than in 1969. The number of slides sold was 6,201 (4,177 in 1969). The collection of coloured slides now contains 1,519 Greek slides and 2,034 Roman slides. Dr F. H. Stubbings has kindly offered, as a gift to the Hellenic Society, reproductions of Mr Piet de Jong's coloured drawings of Mycenaen pottery. It is hoped to place these slides in the collection early in 1971.

Two new sets of slides were added to the collection—a coloured set of 'Gallia Narbonensis—the Greek sites', by Mr A. L. F. Rivet, of Keele University, and a black and white set on 'The Trojan Horse in Classical Art', by Dr B. A. Sparkes, of Southampton University.

The Society for the Promotion of Roman Studies

31-34 GORDON SQUARE, LONDON, WC1H 0PP

President: DR. A. H. J. DONALD, F.B.A.

The Society was formed in 1910 to promote the study of the archaeology, art, literature, and history of Italy and the Roman Empire down to about the year A.D. 700, by publishing journals, forming a library, and holding meetings.

The Journal of Roman Studies is published annually and contains articles written by leading British and foreign scholars and reviews of recent publications. It is abundantly illustrated. The Society also publishes Britannia, devoted to Romano-British and connected studies, to which the annual survey of Romano-British excavations, previously published in the Journal is now transferred. The survey continues to be available as an offprint.

The Society maintains, in conjunction with the Hellenic Society, a joint library of works on classical antiquity and a collection of lantern slides. Members are entitled to borrow books and slides, which can be sent to them by post, and may also consult books in the library of the London University Institute of Classical Studies, which is complementary to that of the Societies.

The annual subscription is £3 which entitles members to one of the journals, or £5.50 for both. Institutions, except schools, pay the full rate for the two. Life membership for those of 65 or over £15. Student-associates £1.50. Non-members £4 for each journal.

All inquiries should be addressed to the Secretary. 01-387-8157.

It organizes an annual conference, lasting four or five days, in a university centre, and sponsors thirty-one branches, most of which hold Greek and Latin Reading Competitions for Schools. Its activities are fully reported in its annual Proceedings, issued free to all members.

The present membership of the Association is approximately 4,500. Membership is open both to individuals and to institutions at an annual subscription of 25p.
