

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

The Journal of Biosocial Science publishes original papers, short reports, reviews, lectures, and book reviews dealing with social aspects of human biology, including reproduction and its control, gerontology, ecology, genetics and applied psychology, with biological aspects of the social sciences, including sociology, social anthropology, education and criminology, with social and biological elements of nutrition, growth and development, health and epidemiology, and with biosocial aspects of demography. Preference is given to material which is clearly interdisciplinary.

Papers are considered for publication on the understanding that they have not been, nor will be, published elsewhere in whole or in part, and that, where customary, they have been approved for publication by the relevant Head of Department. The Editor is not responsible for any loss or damage to manuscripts or illustrations and his decision on all editorial matters is final. The Editor reserves the right to make minor literary emendations but manuscripts will not be substantially altered without consultation with the author. The author is responsible for the accuracy of quotations, tabular matter and references.

For papers on infant feeding, the use of Labbok & Krasovek's definitions of infant/breast-feeding groups is recommended (Stud. Fam. Plann. (1990) 21, 226).
