TO THOSE WISHING TO SUBMIT MANUSCRIPTS

Manuscripts for consideration should be submitted in four double-spaced typed copies. Footnotes should be double-spaced and placed at the end of the manuscript. Please do not use dot matrix printers. Manuscripts are sent to referees anonymously and should be prepared accordingly. Library of Congress transliteration system and the Chicago Manual of Style are to be followed. In general, articles should not exceed twenty-five pages 8½ × 11 inches in dimension. If larger sheets must be used, please retain the margins of an 8½-by-11 page. Manuscripts will not be returned unless postage is included.

The policy of the Slavic Review is not to consider materials that have been published, in any language, or that are being considered for publication elsewhere.

Publication of articles in the Slavic Review is ordinarily limited to those submitted by members of the AAASS. Nonmembers wishing to submit manuscripts are asked to request a membership application from AAASS, 128 Encina Commons, Stanford University, Stanford, CA 94305.

Studies in Soviet Thought

THOMAS J. BLAKELEY (Managing Editor), Dept. of Philosophy, Boston College, U.S.A. GUIDO KÜNG, Institut de l'Europe Orientale, Fribourg; NIKOLAUS LOBKOWICZ, University of Munich

Founded in 1961 by Joseph M. Bocheński, the journal serves as an international medium for the publication of research papers, short notes, comments, reports, critical reviews, discussions, and other writings on Soviet philosophy.

Although the main interest is in modern and recent Soviet thought, the journal does not confine itself to this field and publishes articles dealing with pre-Revolutionary developments. In addition, the journal is useful to philosophers who do not specialize in Soviet studies but wish to be kept informed of philosophical developments inside the Soviet Union and Marxist movements.
