PROJECTS with PEOPLE

The Practice of Participation in Rural Development

Peter Oakley, et al.

This book illustrates a wide range of Third World development experiences in which genuine attempts are made to promote participation by the people themselves. Case studies from Africa, Asia and Latin America highlight the successes and failures of methodological approaches in a variety of sectoral, institutional and policy settings. Throughout, Peter Oakley builds up elements of a strategy and methodology for promoting and evaluating participation. While reflecting the diversity of interpretations, the analysis contributes significantly to an understanding of the steps and instruments needed to bring about real participation. 1991, 284pp. ISBN 92-2-107282-7 paper $26.00
