

Adolphe Appia

Theatre Artist

RICHARD C. BEACHAM

This is the most complete account available in English on the work of the Swiss theatre designer and theorist, Adolphe Appia (1862-1928), who has long been revered as the most important innovator in the concept and use of stage lighting. It offers a critical evaluation of his work on scenic design, and explores his concept of the nature and limits of theatrical art.

Theatrical Legitimation

Allegories of Genius in 17th Century England and France

Timothy Murray

This book deals with the various ways writers associated with the theatre in 17th century England and France tried to assert the worth, the respectability, the 'legitimacy' of the theatrical enterprise.

Henry Purcell's 'Dido and Aeneas'

Ellen T. Harris

Ellen T. Harris, author of Handel and the Pastoral Tradition (OUP, 1980), examines the work's historical position in the Restoration theatre, and shows that, far from being an operatic anomaly, it was deeply rooted in 17th-century English theatrical and musical traditions.

The Works of Thomas Southerne

Edited by Robert Jordan and Harold Love

Dublin-born Thomas Southerne has long been admired as one of the most important dramatists of the Restoration. The present edition brings together his ten plays and the small surviving body of non-dramatic writings. The introduction contains the first biography of Southerne to be based on a comprehensive study of the surviving documentary records.

The Works of George Farquhar

Edited by Shirley Strum Kenny

George Farquhar was the most popular, and perhaps the best playwright of his time. Shirley Strum Kenny has provided the first scholarly edition of the works since Stonehill's in 1730, in a reliable old-spelling text. She has also added to the canon materials, not printed since the beginning of the eighteenth century, some of which have never before been identified as Farquhar's.

THEATRE RESEARCH / RECHERCHES THEATRALES

The International Federation published the journal Theatre Research/Recherches Théâtrales from 1959 to 1975 when it was succeeded by Theatre Research International. During these years many important articles of original research were published covering the whole field of theatre history from the earliest times, and particularly Shakespeare and the Elizabethan period, to more recent figures such as Strindberg, Craig and Beckett. There have been special issues on the themes of Opera, the Playwright as Director, and Reinhardt; a check-list of world theatre on records; and reports on International Conferences and Symposia of the I.F.T.R.

In all 14 volumes were published in 36 issues including a complete index. Most back issues are still available.

University and institutional libraries, and especially those who have subscribed to the new journal Theatre Research International, are recommended to take this opportunity of completing their holding of the earlier issues of this publication, while copies last.

Price: per issue £2 ($3); per volume £4 ($6) plus postage

A few complete runs of the 14 volumes (with two issues in facsimile) are available at £50 ($75). Postage extra.
