NEWS AND NOTES

The sixty-third Annual Meeting of the Association will be held September 5-9, 1967 at the Pick-Congress Hotel, Chicago.

NATIONAL OFFICE'S CHANGE OF ADDRESS

The American Political Science Association's national office has moved to its new quarters in the Political Science Building. Henceforth all correspondence to the Executive Director, officers, and staff should be addressed to:

The American Political Science Association 1527 New Hampshire Avenue, N.W. Washington, D. C. 20036

PROFESSIONAL CONFERENCES

New officers of the Southern Political Science Association are: Preston W. Edsall, North Carolina State University, president; Gladys M. Kammer, University of Florida, president-elect; and S. Sidney Ulmer, University of Kentucky, vice president and program chairman for the 1967 annual meeting. Other members of the program committee are Donald R. Matthews, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and John T. Dorsey, Jr., Vanderbilt University. The 1967 meeting will be held in New Orleans, November 2, 3 and 4.

At the first meeting of the Central States Conference on Public Administration, held October 21-22, 1966 in Kansas City, George J. Mauer, Oklahoma State University, was chosen president-elect. The Oklahoma chapter of the ASPA presented a program on "The Association of Central Oklahoma Governments: An Experiment in Intergovernmental Relations."

The American Society for Political and Legal Philosophy elected the following officers at its annual meeting in September: Jerome Hall, Indiana University, president; John Rawls, Harvard University, vice president; John Lewis, Oberlin, vice president; John Ladd, Brown University, secretary-treasurer.

The International Studies Association will hold its eighth annual national convention on April 14-15 on the Washington Square campus of the New York University in Manhattan. Those planning to attend should communicate with Vincent Davis, Executive Secretary, ISA National Office, University of Denver, Denver, Colorado 80210.

The Midwest Conference of Political Scientists will hold its 25th annual meeting on April 27-29 at the Memorial Union, Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

The Public Affairs Conference Center was transferred from the University of Chicago to Kenyon College in September, 1966. ROBERT GOLDWIN, Kenyon College, has been appointed director.

Harvard University on October 17, 1966, changed the name of its Graduate School of Public Administration to the John Fitzgerald Kennedy School of Government. At the same time it created within the School an Institute of Politics to be supported by an endowment to be provided by the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Library, Inc. RICHARD E. NEUSTADT has been named director of the Institute.

The Australian National University invites applications for its scholarships in political science, including public administration. Applicants should be postgraduate students with a capacity for research. Scholars will normally enroll for a Ph.D. degree, the course for which extends over three years. An award is initially made for two years, but will be normally extended for the whole period of the approved course. The basic scholarship allowance is $A2330 per annum. Married scholars with dependent children receive additional allowances. Fares to and from Canberra are paid.

Application forms and further particulars are available from the University. Applications should reach the University by April 30, 1967. Scholarships may be taken up at any time after the award, subject to agreement by the head of the department. Interested persons should write to D. K. R. Hodgkin, Registrar, Institute of Advanced Studies, The Australian National University, Box 4, P.O. Canberra, A.C.T. Australia.

The editorial staff of the forthcoming new journal, General Politics Quarterly include the following: John E. Westburg, St. Ambrose College, editor; John R. Schmidhauser, University of Iowa, John B. McConnaughy, University of South Carolina; Urban G. Whitaker, San Francisco State College; Rita Kapoor Bricksin, St. Ambrose College, associate editors.

For the twentieth consecutive year, the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan, will hold a summer institute in survey research techniques. The 1967 institute will be presented in two four-week sessions, the first from June 28 to July 21 and the second from July 24 to August 18. The sessions may be taken independently or successively. For further information write to the Survey Research Center, The University of Michigan, P.O. Box 1248, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48106.

The first issue of Metropolitan Viewpoints, published by the Graduate School of Public Affairs, SUNY, appeared on August 1, 1966.

The Institute of Government and Public Affairs of the University of Illinois and the Department of Political Science at Chicago Circle, held an Assembly on the State and its Cities, December 8-10, 1966.

In cooperation with the American Political Science Association, the Illinois Legislative Council held a conference for newly elected members of the Illinois General Assembly at the University of Illinois conference center, November 30-December 1, 1966. Samuel K. Gove, Institute of Government and Public Affairs, University of Illinois, served as consultant to the Association in preparing for the meeting.

ELTON ATWATER, Pennsylvania State University, was on research leave during the fall term. He is also administering a U.N. internship project at the university.

ROBERT BERDAHL, San Francsico State College, served as research consultant with the American Council on Education in Washington, D.C. during the fall term.

PAUL W. BLACKSTOCK, University of South Carolina, was the 1966 recipient of the Russell Creative Research award in the Humanities given annually by the University.

DONALD C. BLAISDELL, City College of CUNY, is a trustee of the Overseas Education Fund of the League of Women Voters.

Bernard C. Borning, University of Idaho, will conduct an NDEA Civics Institute for secondary school teachers on the Idaho campus this summer.

PAUL R. Brass, University of Washington, is doing research in India during 1966-67, under a grant from the American Institute of Indian Studies and the American Council of Learned Societies.

DONALD CASTLEBERRY has resumed his duties at San Francisco State College after spending 1965-66 in Sweden where he was resident director of the California State Colleges International Program.

RICHARD C. COLLINS, Seattle University, has taken a year's leave of absence to serve as associate director of the U. S. Civil Service Commission's Executive Seminar Center in Berkeley.

George A. Condon, Washington State University, spent the summer acting as legislative assistant to the governor of Washington.

EDMOND COSTANTINI, University of California at Davis, served during the autumn term as educational secretary to the governor of California.

FRANK C. DARLING, University of Colorado, has returned after a Fulbright lecture grant to the Philippines. He lectured on American foreign policy in Singapore, Malaysia, Great Britain and Western Germany.

HENRY DAVID, National Science Foundation, has been appointed Executive Secretary of the Division of Behavioral Sciences of the National Research Council.

JOHN A. DAVIS, City College, CUNY, is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations; is the editor of African Forum, a new magazine which began publication in 1965; and was cochairman of the U.S. Committee of UNESCO for the first World Festival of Negro Arts, held in Dakar in April, 1966.

TED DIAMOND has been appointed counsel to a commissioner of the N. Y. City Department of Parks.

JACK D. POWELL, Washington State University, is spending a sabbatical leave at Stanford University.

ALEX N. DRAGNICH, Vanderbilt University, was elected president of the Southern Conference of Slavic Studies at the annual meeting in October. He spent the summer of 1966 in Yugoslavia doing research.

ELLIOTT P. FAGERBERG, Graduate Institute of International Studies of the University of Geneva and the European Division of the University of Maryland, is doing research at the Mershon Center for Education in National Security, the Ohio State University.

JOHN FERGUSON is on leave from the Pennsylvania State University during 1966-67. Part of his time is spent as senior political scientist for the Joint State Government Commission, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

MARGUERITE J. FISHER, Syracuse University, presented a paper at the U. N. Conference on National Development and the Status of Women in Asia in December. The conference was in the Philippines.

GERALD FRIEDBERY, University of California, was on autumn research leave.

FRED GANTT, JR., North Texas State University, will do research during the summer of 1967 under a university faculty grant.

EDWARD B. GLICK, Temple University, conducted research in Panama and El Salvador during the past summer under grants from the Office of Naval Research and Temple University.

Rudolph Gomez, Colorado College, will spend the summer and fall of 1967 as Fulbright lecturer at the Catholic and San Marcos Universities in Lima, Peru.

HARRY A. GREEN, formerly deputy director, Division of Economic Opportunity, Office of the Governor of Florida, has been named special assistant in the Department of Housing and Urban Welfare.

CLARKE HAGENSICK, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, served on the Wisconsin Governor's Committee on Improved Expenditure Management in the summer of 1966.

CHARLES M. HARDIN, University of California at Davis, was on autumn research leave.

CHARLES A. HOLLISTER, Bucknell University, was on leave during the fall term.

JOHN E. HORNER, U. S. Department of State, is "diplomat in residence" at Tulane University during 1966-67 and is attached to the political science department.

CLYDE JACOBS, University of California at Davis, was on leave during the fall and winter terms.

GEORGE McT. KAHIN, Cornell University, is on sabbatical leave during 1966-67.

Ladis K. D. Kristof, Hoover Institution, Stanford University, presented a paper at the First International Congress of Balkan Studies in Sofia during the summer of 1966.

JOHN C. LANE, SUNY at Buffalo, spent a sabbatical leave in England and East Germany during the fall term.

GERARD J. MANGONE, Syracuse University, will be on leave in Washington, D. C. during the spring term.

DAVID S. McLellan, University of California at Riverside, will be on leave through 1968 and will serve as director of the University of California Study Center at Bordeaux, France.

GLENN G. MORGAN, San Jose State College, spent a month in the Soviet Union. He is on leave during 1966-67 under a grant from the American Council of Learned Societies.

Benjamin Nimer, The George Washington University, was on leave during the autumn term. He also conducted research in Western Europe during the summer.

JOHN R. OWENS, University of California at Davis, was on research leave during the fall and winter terms.

JULIUS PAUL, research political scientist in the Division of Neuropsychiatry, Walter Reed Army Institute of Research, has been appointed by the mayor of Rockville, Md., to the city's Human Relations Commission.

THOMAS PAYNE, University of Montana, served as resource person for the American Broadcasting System in Helena on election night in November.

ROBERT PFALTZGRAFF, Seton Hall University, has been appointed to the Board of Editors, Journal of European Affairs.

DON C. PIPER, University of Maryland, received one of the University's ten "Excellence in Teaching" awards for 1966.

ELMER PLISCHKE, University of Maryland, was on sabbatical leave during the fall term.

BHAGWATI P. K. PODDAR, currently in India on a research grant from the Relm Foundation, is assisting in revising the political science program at the Indian Institute of Technology, New Delhi.

Paul F. Power, University of Cincinnati, did research in India while on leave of absence during the fall term.

RAYMOND L. RANDALL, Indiana University, has been appointed director of the Institutional and Social Service, Office of Technical Cooperation and Research, AID.

MELVIN RICHTER, Hunter College, has been awarded the Conference on British Studies prize for his book, The Politics of Conscience: T. H. Green and His Age.

ROBERT S. ROBINS, Tulane University, served as director of Duke University's Summer Institute on Southern Asia, 1966.

DONALD B. ROSENTHAL, SUNY at Buffalo, is on leave during 1966-67 and is studying at the University of Chicago under the auspices of the Ford Foundation.

DONALD S. ROTHCHILD, University of California, is on leave during the current academic year and is teaching at the University College, Nairobi, Kenya, as a field representative of the Rockefeller Foundation.

H. PIERRE SECHER, Western Reserve University, was on research leave during the fall term.

JEROME N. SLATER, SUNY at Buffalo, will be on leave spring and summer terms to conduct research in Washington, D. C. under an SSRC grant.

HERBERT J. SPIRO, University of Pennsylvania, attended a Round Table on "Government and Politics of Economic Organizations" of ISPA in Warsaw, Poland. He also attended a conference on "Theory and Practice of Political Development" at the Brookings Institution. He gave papers at both conferences.

HAROLD STANLEY THAMES, North Texas State University, conducted research at the United Nations during the summer of 1966 under a university grant.

ELLIS WALDRON, University of Montana, and BOYD A. MARTIN, University of Idaho, were director and associate director, respectively, of a joint Montana-Idaho Assembly on State Legislatures in December. Some sixty interested persons from the two states considered various recommendations aimed at improving the functioning of state legislatures in the light of reapportionment.

RICHARD L. WALKER has returned to his post at the University of South Carolina, after spending the year in Taiwan.

HERBERT WALTZER, Miami University (Ohio), was invited to return to CBS during the week of the November elections to continue a study of the impact of television on the election.

WILLIAM V. WEBER, Western Michigan University, has been elected to the Michigan State House of Representatives.

STAFF CHANGES

NEW APPOINTMENTS

ALVIN A. ABBOTT, assistant professor, Wisconsin State University at Stevens Point; formerly of Central Michigan University.

JAMES CARL AKINS, assistant professor, University of Houston.

James E. Anderson, associate professor, University of Houston; formerly of Wake Forest College.

THOMAS J. ANTON, professor, University of Illinois at Chicago Circle.

Douglas Ashford, associate professor, Cornell University.

DAVID BARNEY, lecturer, University of California at Davis.

ASKOE K. BASU, assistant professor, University of Southern California.

SYLAN M. BERMAN, associate professor, Institute of International Law and Relations, The Catholic University of America.

PAUL W. BOEYINK, lecturer, San Jose State College.

A. Stephen Boyan, assistant professor, Pennsylvania State University; formerly of the University of Chicago.

STEPHEN N. BRYANT, instructor, North Texas State University, 1966-67.

Douglas P. Bwy, assistant professor, Western Reserve University.