Suzanne Bergeron is the director of the Women's and Gender Studies program at the University of Michigan, Dearborn. She is the author of Fragments of Development: Nation, Gender and the Space of Modernity (University of Michigan Press) and has written on gender and economic restructuring in journals such as Signs, Feminist Economics, Gender and Development, and International Feminist Journal of Politics. Her work is included in anthologies such as Feminist Economics and the World Bank, Gender and Global Restructuring, and Development, Sexual Rights and Global Governance. She holds a Ph.D. in Economics from the University of Notre Dame.

Mia Bloom is an assistant professor of International Affairs at the University of Georgia and author of Dying to Kill: The Allure of Suicide Terror as well as a forthcoming book on women and political violence entitled, Bombshell: Women and Terror for Penguin Press, Canada.

Brittany Anne Boulton graduated in 2008 from Bowling Green State University, where she studied political science, Russian and women's studies. Her honors thesis, "Hillary Clinton and Sarah Palin: A Study of Gender and Media in American National Elections," examined press use of gender frames during the 2008 presidential election. She is currently working for Ohio State Senator Capri Cafaro and plans to enter graduate school in the fall of 2011 to study public policy and gender studies.

Sarah Childs is Professor of Politics and Gender at the University of Bristol, UK. She has published widely on women and British politics: her latest book Women and British Party Politics (Routledge) was published in 2008. She is currently working on a three year ESRC funded project on "Gender and the Conservative Party" and a Leverhulme Trust project on "Gender, Ceremony and Ritual in Parliaments."

Penny Johnson is an independent researcher and research associate at the Institute of Women's Studies at Birzeit University, Palestine, where she co-edits the Review of Women's Studies. She is also an associate editor of the Jerusalem Quarterly. CAMBRIDGE LIBRARY COLLECTION

Books of enduring scholarly value

In the spirit of Cambridge University Press's continued commitment to innovation and enterprise, the Cambridge Library Collection launched in July 2009, making an initial group of 475 out-of-print books available again. Another 1,000 will follow by the end of 2009 and 3,000 titles a year will be added as the program continues.

Drawing from the world-renowned collections in the Cambridge University Library, these books are carefully selected by experts in each subject area because of their scholarly importance or as landmarks in the history of their academic discipline.

Cambridge University Press is using state-of-the-art scanning machines to capture the contents of each book. The files are processed to give a consistently clear, crisp image, and the books finished to the high-quality standard for which the press is recognized around the world. The latest print-on-demand technology ensures that the books will remain available indefinitely.

The Cambridge Library Collection will revive books of enduring scholarly value across a wide range of disciplines in the humanities, social sciences, science and technology.

INSTRUCTIONS TO CONTRIBUTORS

Politics & Gender accepts manuscript submissions through the Editorial Manager system at <http://www.editorialmanager.com/pag>

For questions concerning “Instructions to Contributors,” please contact the Editors, Kathleen Dolan and Aili Mari Tripp at politicsandgender@cambridge.org. Additional information can be found at the journal’s website at <http://www.journals.cambridge.org/action/displayJournal?jid=PAG>

BOOK REVIEWS

Suggestions of books to be reviewed should be emailed to the Book Review Editor:

Sue Thomas
Pacific Institute for Research and Evaluation
suethomas@mindspring.com

MANUSCRIPT PREPARATION

- Manuscripts must be no longer than 30 pages including text, tables and figures, references and appendices. The entire manuscript (including notes and references) must be double-spaced, with one-inch margins and 12-point font, and printed on one side of the page only.
- The author must include a separate title page, with his or her full contact information (including email address, telephone number and institutional affiliation), and a brief biographical statement. All identifying information must be removed from the manuscript.
- A second page must include an abstract of no more than 200 words.
- Placement of tables or figures should be cited in the text. The publisher will be responsible for placing artwork, tables or figures, as well as converting endnotes to footnotes.
- Appendices, tables, and figures should be numbered consecutively throughout the article and be included on separate pages appearing after the reference section. Figures should be ready for photographic reproduction; they cannot be redrawn by the publisher. Charts, graphs, or other artwork should be professional rendered or computer generated. Photographs should be clearly printed and should remain legible after a 50% reduction.

- References and notes should conform to the APSA Style Manual. Authors should include full volume, issue, and page numbers for references. Author’s acknowledgments or other personal notes will appear as an unnumbered note at the foot of the page. Notes should be numbered consecutively throughout the article. Numbered notes should appear at the end of the sentence. If multiple texts are cited in a sentence they should appear as one consolidated note at the end of the sentence.
- Endnotes should be employed (rather than footnotes).
- All figure captions should be typed on a separate page (or pages), rather than on the figures themselves (which are camera-ready art) so that they can be copyedited.

Originality and copyright: Papers with multiple authors are reviewed with the assumption that all authors concur with its submission. A Copyright Transfer Agreement, with certain specified rights reserved by the author, must be signed and returned to the Editor by senior authors of accepted manuscripts, prior to publication. Politics & Gender does not accept manuscripts for review that are under review elsewhere, previously published or already committed for publication.

For general guidelines for preparing a manuscript for submission, please refer to the APSA Style Manual for Political Science (rev. ed. 2001) for citation, footnotes, references, and other style issues. Please note, in particular, the statement on gender-specific language (15).
