New Titles in International Law

Power and Policy in Quest of Law

Essays in Honor of Eugene Victor Rostow

edited by Myres S. McDougal, Yale University Law School, and W. Michael Reisman, Yale University Law School

1985, 640 pp.
$96.00

ISBN 90-247-2911-4

Eugene Victor Rostow has been a major force for a policy of common interest in the world and for the responsible use of power to establish and maintain a system of international law. This collection of essays published on his seventieth birthday by friends in Europe and the United States includes studies in the varied areas in which Dean Rostow has himself made significant contributions.

The Search for World Order

A Study of Thought and Action

by Cornelius F. Murphy Jr., Duquesne University School of Law

DEVELOPMENTS IN INTERNATIONAL LAW 9

1985, 196 pp.
$43.00

ISBN 90-247-3188-7

This study explores the major conceptions which have arisen since the time when Dante, in his De Monarchia, sought to invest the Holy Roman Emperor with supreme global authority. The scope is impressive. Beginning with the attempt by Grotius in the 17th century to subject sovereign will to the reign of jurisprudence, it follows the developments in thought and action up to the precarious conditions of the contemporary world.

The Law and Practice of the International Court

by Shabtai Rosenne, Member, the Institute of the International Court

1985, 810 pp.
$134.00

ISBN 90-247-2986-6

This book is not simply a revision and an amalgamation of the author's two previous works on the International Court (The International Court of Justice: An Essay in Political and Legal Theory, 1957; and The Time Factor in the Jurisdiction of the International Court of Justice, 1960).

The object of this comprehensive "handbook" is to examine the law governing the Court as an organ for the settlement of international disputes, with emphasis on the interplay of the political and legal factors bearing upon the Court and its role in the modern society of nations.

Judicial Independence

The Contemporary Debate

edited by Simon Shetreet, Hebrew University of Jerusalem, and Jules Deschènes, Palais de Justice, Montreal

1985, 720 pp.
$83.50

ISBN 90-247-3182-8

This book contributes to the study of judicial independence and presents the contemporary debate on judicial independence in an international and comparative perspective. Special attention is paid to the analysis of the concept of judicial independence as viewed by the various national judicial systems.
