Wisdom from the Nile

A Collection of Folk-Stories from Northern and Central Sudan

Edited by Ahmed Al-Shahi and F. C. T. Moore

The riverain peoples of Northern Sudan possess an extremely rich oral tradition of story-telling. This volume is a selection of the tales collected by the authors and translated from the original Arabic. There is a substantial introduction which sets the stories in their cultural and social context, and offers a systematic account of their principal themes. £10

Shona Praise Poetry

Edited by Aaron C. Hodza and George Fortune

The Shona people of Rhodesia have a rich and ancient tradition that expresses itself most freely in its oral literature. The poems in this volume have been collected by Mr Hodza, himself a Shona, and edited and translated by Mr Fortune, who also wrote the introduction. £16

There Was a Certain Man

Spoken Art of the Fipa

Translated and edited by Roy Willis

This important addition to the series presents the oral tradition of the Fipa of Tanzania. It provides insight into the thought and values of an African people who retain much of their traditional culture. Certain more unusual forms of 'spoken art' are recorded and discussed, notably greetings and 'formal communications', as well as stories and proverbs, and an introduction based on much original material places them in their social and cultural context. £6.50

THE JOURNAL OF DEVELOPMENT STUDIES

Since its foundation in 1964, the Journal of Development Studies has established itself as a major international forum for the discussion of the fundamental issues of development. Thus it has become a crossroads where economists, political scientists, sociologists and others whose studies centre on the Third World, can examine the full dimensions of the development process and the obstacles blocking its path. A selection of some recent articles is given below:

Olaju: A Yoruba Concept of Development J. D. Y. PEEL

Chayanov's Model of Peasant Household Resource: Allocation and its Relevance to Mbere Division, Eastern Kenya DIANA HUNT

Food Grain Marketing in Northern Nigeria: Spatial and Temporal Performance H. M. HAYS AND J. H. McCOY

THE JOURNAL OF MODERN AFRICAN STUDIES

The Journal offers a quarterly survey of politics, economics, and related topics in contemporary Africa.

The main emphasis is upon the peoples and policies, the problems and progress of this dynamic and disparate continent; upon the many societies that are evolving rather than the essential characteristics of the old; upon the present, not on the more distant past. The best current work is sought from specialists in different academic disciplines, whose contributions can illuminate and cross-fertilise one another.

The Journal seeks to promote a deeper understanding of what is happening in Africa today. It is intended for both the political scientist and the practical politician, the administrator and the advocate, the economist and the educator, the banker and the business man, the diplomat and the technocrat, the civil servant and the nationalist leader. All have something to contribute to these pages and, it is hoped, much to learn from them.

Editorial policy avoids commitment to any political viewpoint or ideology, whether imperialism, pan-Africanism, capitalism, socialism, or nationalism. Such concepts, however, have relevance to the modern African situation, and merit serious discussion, often from several different points of view, in order that controversial issues may be fairly examined.
