

Ferranti accelerometers for high accuracy at a competitive price

Now in volume production for aircraft navigation and space vehicle guidance, the FA2 series of force feedback accelerometers offer accuracy within 0.01%, at competitive prices, reliability having been proven by the thousands already in service.

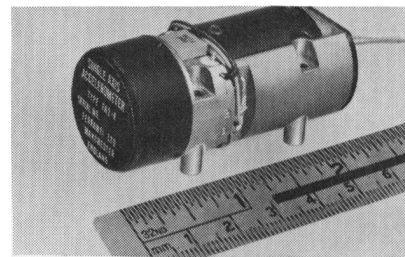

The FA2F version has viscous fluid damping whilst the FA2G, which is air filled, uses external electronic shaping.

Associated "Multilin" hybrid thin film capture amplifiers are available.

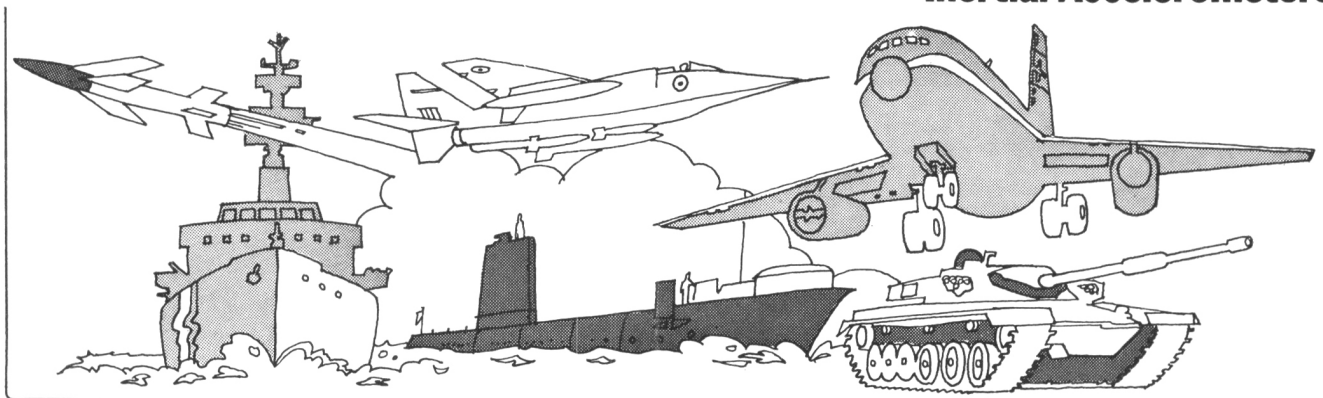

Specified for the Inertial Platforms in the Harrier, Phantom, Jaguar and Nimrod aircraft of the Royal Air Force, for the MRCA and for Wessex helicopters, Ferranti accelerometers are also used in ships, submarines, missiles and in such diverse applications as Radar Antennae and Sonar Transducer stabilization and motion compensation.
