

Expect more from your literature anthology

bedfordstmartins.com/meyerlit/catalog

The Bedford Introduction to Literature Reading, Thinking, Writing

Tenth Edition

Michael Meyer, University of Connecticut

The Bedford Introduction to Literature is a best-seller for a reason: It brings literature to life for students, helping to make them lifelong readers and better writers. Classic works drawn from many periods and cultures appear alongside a strong showing from today's notable authors. There is plenty of support for students, with a dozen chapters on critical reading and writing, helpful sample close readings, writing assignments, and student papers. In-depth chapters on major authors like Flannery O'Connor and Emily Dickinson take students deeper into their work, and the new tenth edition features a chapter on the fiction of Dagoberto Gilb, created in collaboration with the author himself—one more way that the anthology showcases literature as a living, changing art form.

“I think it is the best introduction to literature book out there. It gets to the heart of literary emotion and process.”

—Gina L. Hochhalter, Little Big Horn College

Compact and portable alternatives

bedfordstmartins.com/meyercompact/catalog

The Compact Bedford Introduction to Literature Reading, Thinking, Writing

Ninth Edition

Michael Meyer

University of Connecticut

bedfordstmartins.com/meyertogo/catalog

Literature to Go

Michael Meyer

University of Connecticut

 Also available
as an e-book

Literary Studies

From Chicago

Romanticism and the Question of the Stranger

David Simpson

"Simpson makes for an expert guide, his deft and dynamic analysis forging unexpected pathways through the familiar terrain of Romantic writing, and his notion of the stranger supplying an illuminating new lens through which to re-perceive the Romantic canon."—Times Higher Education Book of the Week

CLOTH $35.00

The Frankenstein of 1790 and Other Lost Chapters from Revolutionary France

Julia V. Douthwaite

"This book offers eye-opening revelations about French fiction in the Revolutionary period, not least the rediscovery of a parable about an inventor named Frankenstein and his life-size artificial man, published more than a quarter century before Mary Shelley's famous novel. The Frankenstein of 1790 will be of enormous interest to any student of the French Revolution's literary legacies."—James Chandler, University of Chicago

CLOTH $45.00

The Accommodated Animal

Cosmopolitanism in Shakespearean Locales

Laurie Shannon

"Beautifully written, Laurie Shannon's book explores ways in which questions of sovereignty and rule bear on our treatment of non-human beings, posing a wonderful challenge to our complacent view of what we think it means to be human. A book to set beside Montaigne."—David Bevington, University of Chicago

PAPER $26.00

The Moment of Racial Sight

A History

Irene Tucker

"A work of complex cerebration and theoretical ambition. It seeks nothing short of a fundamental rethinking of the racial construction thesis that has come to assume the character of the very air we breathe in the humanities and interpretive social sciences. An astute, erudite, and often brilliant work."—Stephen Best, University of California, Berkeley

CLOTH $45.00

Air's Appearance

Literary Atmosphere in British Fiction, 1660–1794

Jayne Elizabeth Lewis

"Air's Appearance is witty as well as elegant. The subject is original, the research breathtakingly wide-ranging, and the language lyrically clear. Its suggestiveness alone opens up so many new interpretive possibilities, so many new ways of historical thinking, so many new perceptions of air in text and air around. It makes you think and see differently."—Cynthia Wall, University of Virginia

CLOTH $45.00

Futurity

Contemporary Literature and the Quest for the Past

Amir Eshel

"Using an appealing combination of novels by German and Israeli writers, Amir Eshel produces a powerful and refreshing argument that these texts, which look back at past events, nonetheless point forward to future solutions to the problems they address."—Judith Ryan, Harvard University

CLOTH $40.00

The University of Chicago Press www.press.uchicago.edu

MLA

COMMONS
commons.mla.org

a space for MLA members to share research, work collaboratively, and explore new modes of scholarship

MLA Commons is a platform for the publication of scholarship in new formats, with a focus on member-to-member communication, group discussion, and collaboration.

MLA Commons provides several ways of making scholarship publicly available. Full participation, including the ability to create user profiles, join groups, and publish original content, is a benefit of MLA membership. Log in today with your MLA user name and password at commons.mla.org to activate your account.

Forthcoming in the March issue of PMLA

Julie Ellison. "Guest Column—The New Public Humanists"

Robert Stilling. "An Image of Europe: Yinka Shonibare's Postcolonial Decadence"

Michael Collins. "'Ali Even Motivates the Dead': The Pursuit of Sovereignty in Norman Mailer's The Fight"

Benjamin Kohlmann. "Awkward Moments: Melodrama, Modernism, and the Politics of Affect"

Olivia C. Harrison. "Cross-Colonial Poetics: Souffles-Anfas and the Figure of Palestine"

Erik Gray. "Come Be My Love: The Song of Songs, Paradise Lost, and the Tradition of the Invitation Poem"

Theories and Methodologies

What Was African American Literature?: commentaries by Glenda Carpio, Gene Andrew Jarrett, R. Baxter Miller, Sonnet Retman, Marlon B. Ross, Xiomara Santamarina, and Rafia Zafar; response by Kenneth W. Warren

The Changing Profession

Alan Liu. "The Meaning of Digital Humanities"

Criticism in Translation

"The Ordinary Gloss on Jonah." Translation and introduction by Ryan McDermott

Little-Known Documents

"The Birth of Belgian Surrealism: Excerpts from Correspondance (1924–25)." Translation, introduction, and commentary by Jan Baetens and Michael Kasper

"Middlebrow Culture in the Cold War: Books USA Advertisements, 1967." Introduction by Trysh Travis

A. N. Veselovsky. "Envisioning World Literature in 1863: From the Reports on a Mission Abroad." Translation by Jennifer Flaherty. Edited and with an introduction by Boris Maslov