Simonides:

A Historical Study

by J. H. Molyneux

"The largest and most important work written on Simonides."

—D.L. Page

Further Greek Epigrams

"Molyneux's work is a scholarly and exhaustive analysis that makes a significant contribution to ancient Greek literary history."

—Gordon Kirkwood

In his examination of the public life and poetic career of Simonides, Prof. J. H. Molyneux has provided a thorough examination of all the documentary evidence available with respect to one of history's major choral lyric poets.

Simonides: A Historical Study offers a judicious assessment of the evidence for dating of events and poetry in the various stages of Simonides' career. In analyzing this information, Prof. Molyneux considers the occasion and date of the poems of Simonides; the dates of his association with various patrons; his whereabouts and movements at various stages of his poetic career; and his relationship with the communities, governments or individuals for whom he wrote. This meticulous study is certain to be of great value to both literary and historical scholars.

Senior Lecturer in the Classics at Nottingham University in England, Dr. Molyneux earned his doctorate from the University of Sheffield. His writings have appeared in numerous journals, and he has presented papers to many of the most prestigious scholarly organizations.

Plato in the Italian Renaissance

By James Hankins

Plato in the Italian Renaissance, the first book-length treatment of Renaissance Platonism in over fifty years, is a study of the dramatic revival of interest in the Platonic dialogues in Italy in the fifteenth century. Through a richly contextual study of the translations and commentaries on Plato, James Hankins seeks to show how the interpretation of Plato was molded by the expectations of fifteenth-century readers, by the need to protect Plato against his critics, and the broader hermeneutical assumptions and practices of the period.

The second half includes 20 appendices which treat of the dates, character, and sources of the translations and commentaries discussed in the first half. It also contains a catalogue raisonnée of texts illustrative of Plato in the Quattrocento, comprising new critical editions of 59 texts, thirty-eight of them hitherto unpublished. The volume ends with a complete catalog of manuscripts and printed editions of Renaissance Latin translations of Plato, an incipitarium, and full indexes.

James Hankins received his A.B. in Classics at Duke University and his Ph.D. in History at Columbia University under Eugene F. Rice, Jr., where he also served for a number of years as assistant to Paul Oskar Kristeller. He has published and co-published The Humanism of Leonardo Bruni, Supplementum Festivum: Studies in Honor of Paul Oskar Kristeller and numerous articles.

Chariton

Callirhoe

Edited and Translated by G. P. Goulet

Chariton's Callirhoe, subtitled "Love Story in Syracuse," is the oldest extant novel.

Chariton narrates the adventures of an exceptionally beautiful young bride named Callirhoe, beginning with her abduction by pirates—adventures that involve shipwrecks, several ardent suitors, an embarrassing pregnancy, the hazards of war, and a happy ending. This enchanting tale is here made available for the first time in an English translation facing the Greek text.

Aristotle: Poetics

Longinus: On the Sublime

Demetrius: On Style

Edited and Translated by Stephen Halliwell; W. Hamilton Fyfe, revised by Donald Russell; Doreen C. Innes, based on the translation by W. Rhys Roberts

Stephen Halliwell makes newly accessible one of the most influential and widely cited works in the history of literary theory and criticism. Aristotle's Poetics contains his treatment of Greek tragedy: its history, nature, and conventions, with details on poetic diction. Also included in the volume are two central post-Aristotelian treatises on literary style: On the Sublime, a discussion of distinguished style (with illustrative passages) probably written in the 1st century A.D.; and On Style, a valuable guide to the Greek theory of styles that dates perhaps as early as the 2nd century B.C.

Religion and Authority in Roman Carthage from Augustus to Constantine

J. B. RIVES

This book examines the organization of religion—Christian, pagan, and Jewish—in the Roman Empire at the time of Constantine and Augustine. Although there have been illuminating particular studies of the relationship between religious activity and socio-political authority in the empire, this is the first large-scale attempt to assess it as a whole.

Eros Unveiled

Plato and the God of Love

CATHERINE OSBORNE

This book challenges the traditional distinction between eros, the love found in Greek thought, and agape, the love characteristic of Christianity.

It focuses on a number of classic texts, including Plato's Symposium and Lysis, Aristotle's Ethics and Metaphysics, and famous passages in Gregory of Nyssa, Origen, Dionysius the Areopagite, Plotinus, Augustine, and Thomas Aquinas.

'Reading' Greek Death

To the End of the Classical Period
CHRISTIANE SOURVINOU-INWOOD

Drawing on every kind of available evidence—from literary texts to burial customs, inscriptions, and images in art—the author sheds new light on many key, still essentially problematic, aspects of Greek life, myth, and literature, including: the world of the dead in Homer; the perceptions associated with grave monuments and articulated in their images and epigrams; the myths of Charon, Hermes, and the journey of death; and the shifting attitudes towards death in a changing society.

Artful Crafts

Ancient Greek Silverware and Pottery
MICHAEL VICKERS and DAVID GILL

This exciting and provocative book challenges the widely-held view that Greek pottery vases were objects of great value in antiquity, commissioned by rich patrons from the greatest artists of the day. Instead, they are shown to have been simply low-cost versions of tableware originally made in silver and gold.

Maximus Tyrius

Philosophumena – Διαλέξεις

Edited by George Leonidas Koniaris

1995. Large-octavo. LXXXIII, 527 pages.

Cloth DM 390,-/öS 3042,-/sFr 370,- ISBN 3-11-012833-0

(Texte und Kommentare, Vol. 17)

Critical edition of the Lectures of Maximus of Tyre (Phoenicia), a rhetorician and eclectic philosopher of the 2nd cent. A. D.

The Διαλέξεις of Maximus of Tyre contribute to our knowledge of the Cynic diatribe, the Second Sophistic, and Middle Platonism. They also exemplify the intellectual syncretism of the time - in Maximus, for example, Asianism joins forces with Atticism, and philosophy diluted in rhetoric becomes manneristic belles-lettres.

The edition is based on a reevaluation of codex R (Parisinus graecus 1962, late 9th cent.: codex unicus) and replaces the outdated edition of H. Hobein (1910).

CALLIMACHUS AND HIS CRITICS

Alan Cameron

Callimachus has usually been seen as the archetypal ivory-tower poet. Abundant evidence, much of it assembled here for the first time, suggests a very different story: a world of civic festivals rather than books and libraries, a world in which poetry and poets played a central and public role. In the course of his work, Alan Cameron casts fresh light on the lives, dates, works, and interrelationships of most of the other leading poets of the age.

NOTES TO CONTRIBUTORS

1. One copy of an article will suffice. It will usually be returned if the contributor so requests on submitting it, but as the editors may wish to annotate it and furthermore cannot take responsibility for any loss, contributors should retain another copy.

2. Articles should be typed in double spacing on A4 paper and on one side of the paper only. Footnotes should be numbered consecutively and typed on separate sheets. Greek quotations need not be typed, but every letter must be clear and legible; especial care should be taken over accents and breathings.

3. Quotations in English, Latin, French, etc., should be put in single inverted commas, e.g.

...the phrase 'dux femina facti' has...

A quotation within a quoted passage has double inverted commas. Single words or self-contained phrases (such as fait accompli) may be underlined to indicate italics. Material inserted within a quotation is placed in square brackets:

'[The translator]... must ever be casting his eyes upwards from the copy to the original.'

4. References should normally be given in the footnotes, in the following form:

The Classical Association

The main aims of the Classical Association are to promote and sustain interest in classical studies, to maintain their rightful position in universities and schools, and to give scholars and teachers opportunities of meeting and discussing their problems. It organizes an annual conference, lasting four or five days, in a university centre, and sponsors twenty-nine branches, most of which hold Greek and Latin Reading Competitions for Scholars. Its activities are fully reported in the annual Proceedings, issued free to all members.

The present membership of the Association is approximately 4,400. Membership is open to both individuals and to institutions at an annual subscription of £3.00 (life composition for individual members, £63.00). Members may obtain Classical Review, Classical Quarterly, and Greece & Rome at greatly reduced prices. Application for membership and subscriptions for the journals should be addressed to the Hon. Treasurer, Richard Wallace, Department of Classics, University of Keele, Keele, Staffs. ST5 5BG.
