CHINAREVIEW^{*}

The authoritative new monthly newsmagazine
on China and Chinese affairs

There are many specialist publications on China ranging from investment to travel – but there was none that could give you the vast country in a nutshell.

But now there is one – China Review, the first English language monthly newsmagazine devoted entirely to reporting on China and Chinese affairs worldwide.

Launched by the Sing Tao Group based in Hong Kong late last year, China Review is the first serious publication on the vast country and its people.

China Review is full of articles by the best in the field, including:

- Anthony Grey, author of the best-sellers 'Beijing' and 'Saigon'.
- Dick Wilson, former editor of the Far Eastern Economic Review.
- Professor June Teufel Dreyer, Professor of Politics at the University of Miami and Director of its East Asian Programmes.
- T.L.Tsim a noted Hong Kong political commentator
- Professor Peter Harris, Professor of Political Science at the University of Hong Kong.

In addition there is a string of correspondents all over China and Roving Editors who provide on-the-spot reports from places of interest.

If you want to know the stories behind the headlines on China – and the stories that don't even make the headlines – you'll find them all, and more, in CHINAREVIEW

Manuscripts

The China Quarterly welcomes the submission of manuscripts from scholars, including research students, on all aspects of contemporary China and from all points of view, including those which deal with Taiwan and the Overseas Chinese. Articles on China prior to 1949 are also welcome, particularly, but not exclusively, when these relate directly to contemporary China or to the history of the Chinese Communist Party. Articles should be submitted, in triplicate, to the editorial office. They should be typed in double spacing, footnotes being placed at the end of the article; preferably conform to the styling of The China Quarterly; and normally not exceed 8–10,000 words in length. A style sheet is available upon request. Submission of a manuscript is taken to imply that it has not previously been published and that it is not currently being considered elsewhere.

The China Quarterly is published by the School of Oriental and African Studies, London University. The views expressed in articles are those of individual authors and do not necessarily represent the views of the School.

State and Scholars in T'ang China

D. L. McMULLEN

Dr McMullen studies the main academic agencies of the T'ang dynasty in China and shows how they provided the context for much of the scholarly writing that survives, and how the attitudes of the intellectual elite towards them changed in the three centuries of T'ang rule.

PAUL CLARK

The first comprehensive history of film in China from the establishment of the People's Republic in 1949 to the mid-1980's when a 'new wave' broke in Chinese cinema. Paul Clark argues that a dynamic relationship exists between film-makers, audiences and the Communist Party and that this has shaped the history of film-making and led to its central role in the modern transformation of Chinese culture.

The Hongkong Bank in the Period of Imperialism and War, 1895-1918: Wayfoong, the Focus of Wealth

Volume II of The History of The Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation

FRANK H. H. KING

This, the second of the four-volume history of The Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, covers the dramatic years of imperialism and war, 1895-1918. During these years the Bank, as the most powerful financial corporation in the East, truly lived up to its Chinese name, Wayfoong, the 'focus of wealth'.
