

AUSTRALIAN ASSOCIATION FOR ENVIRONMENTAL EDUCATION INC.

MEMBER BENEFITS

Promoting environmental education

The Australian Association for Environmental Education Inc. promotes environmental education by:

- publishing a quarterly newsletter, annual journal, a member directory, and occasional papers and reports
- conducting a biennial national environmental education conference
- running professional development workshops and seminars
- networking between environmental educators
- working with conservation groups and other bodies
- lobbying governments and agencies
- offering an annual travelling scholarship to its members
- undertaking consultancies

As an AAEE member, you receive:

Australian Journal of Environmental Education

The Association's annual professional journal presents ideas to stimulate debate about formal, nonformal, informal and community environmental education teaching and research. Articles include research reports, program evaluation and case studies, reports of projects and teaching practice/techniques, essays on policy and philosophical issues, literature reviews, book reviews and discussions of previous articles.

Quarterly newsletter - ozEENews

All full members receive an electronic or hard copy of the quarterly newsletter, which contains information about environmental issues, innovations, developments, reviews of books and resources, notices and reports of conferences and meetings.

Member Directory

This annual publication is a networking tool, linking environmental educators with similar interests. Our Association is unique, involving a broad cross-section of environmental educators from diverse areas such as: schools, government agencies, industry, universities, technical and further education centres, zoos, museums, parks and reserves, field study centres, and community and conservation groups.

Other member benefits

- substantial discounts on all AAEE publications
- reduced registration at the biennial AAEE conference
- the opportunity to hold office in the Association
- recognition through AAEE Fellowship, honouring outstanding contributions to the field of environmental education
