

He is at present Chairman of the Association of Child Psychologists and Psychiatrists.

Another aspect of Professor Pond's interests is exemplified by his membership of the Archbishops' Committee on the reform of the divorce laws in 1964-65 and in his Riddell Memorial Lectures on 'Counselling in Religion and Psychiatry', published in 1973.

Besides these Lectures, a few of his numerous publications may be mentioned here: the chapters contributed to Hill and Parr's Electroencephalography (2nd edition, 1962); those on 'Epilepsy and Personality Disorders' in the Handbook of Clinical Neurology (1972), and the papers contributed jointly to the British Journal of Psychiatry (1963) on 'Social Factors, Marriage and Neurosis in a Working Class Population'.

SPRING QUARTERLY MEETING, 1978

Pending the publication of the Minutes of this Meeting, held in Dublin on 26 April 1978, the following is a summary of the Registrar's Report covering the period from the February Meeting (for Minutes see April issue, pp 53-5).

Memoranda prepared by a working party for submission to the Home Office Committee on Obscenity and Film Censorship have been sent in as being the views of individual members of the working party, it having been found impossible to submit a consensus 'College view'.

The Court of Electors is discussing proposals for improving the method of receiving and considering candidatures for the Fellowship and of ensuring that no worthy candidates are overlooked.

The World Psychiatric Association has set up a committee to review the abuse of psychiatry for political purposes. Reports of such abuses have been referred to the Public Policy Committee.

Trouble with the College's mini-computer has resulted in further delay in the completion of the intended programme for the publication of a new Membership List.

The Report ended with tributes to the members of the Irish Division and others who helped to make the Meeting an outstanding success.
