PALESTINIAN IDENTITY

The Construction of Modern National Consciousness

Rashid Khalidi

This new work examines the sources of collective Palestinian identity from the late Ottoman Empire onward: religious beliefs, ethnic backgrounds, local loyalties, education, and external forces like Zionism. Exploring the interplay between the different narratives that make up Palestinian history, this book illuminates aspects of the identity of a people about which much has been written, but little understood.

HEZBOLLAH

Hala Jaber

Hala Jaber goes inside the organization that has been synonymous with terror for the past fifteen years. This account, the first of its kind, raises important questions about the inner workings and political role of Hezbollah, Hamas, and other extremist organizations in the evolving peace process in the Middle East.

A BLOOD-DIMMED TIDE

Dispatches from the Middle East

Amos Elon

Amos Elon charts the trajectory of politics in the modern Middle East and the progress of relations between Jews and Arabs over the course of almost thirty years. This is a sensitive, informed, and well-written account of the past, present, and future of one of the most fascinating and politically turbulent regions in the world.

CONFLICT AND COOPERATION

Zoroastrian Subalterns and Muslim Elites

in Medieval Iranian Society

Jamsheed K. Choksy

Jamsheed K. Choksy explores the consequences of the meeting in medieval Iran of two important religious communities—Zoroastrians and Muslims. He thoughtfully examines patterns of communal behavior during the seventh to thirteenth centuries A.D. and suggests how both groups were radically transformed, ultimately reshaping the culture and society of the Middle East and Central Asia.

The Shape of the Holy

Early Islamic Jerusalem

Oleg Grabar

In this handsomely illustrated book, noted Islamist Oleg Grabar offers a rare account of the great role played by early Islam in defining the “look” of Jerusalem that remained largely intact until the twentieth century. From the time of Herod through the Crusades, Jerusalem had officially “changed its religion” several times, with Jews, Christians, and Muslims inscribing the story of their faiths on the urban landscape. From about 640 to 1100, Muslims transformed Christian Jerusalem, both physically and ideologically to embody their new faith. Offering a major photographic record of the Dome of the Rock, this book shows in rich detail how Islam articulated itself architecturally.

Avenues of Participation

Family, Politics, and Networks in Urban Quarters of Cairo

Diane Singerman

“Singerman’s work cuts across a variety of disciplines—comparative political science, anthropology and sociology, women’s studies, and economics—and all are handled deftly. . . . She is a superb writer and has produced an enjoyable, informative, and challenging piece of scholarship.”

—Denis J. Sullivan, Middle East Journal

“[An] outstanding piece of scholarship that forces us to rethink and broaden our understanding of political participation to better appreciate the alternative institutions that marginalized communities create in order to satisfy their political and economic needs. . . . [Singerman’s] vivid account is one of only a handful of studies that provide a detailed picture of the daily political and economic experiences of lower-class communities in the Middle East.”

Saladin

The Politics of the Holy War

Malcolm Cameron Lyons and

D. E. P. Jackson

"...a distinguished and extremely well-researched book...reads easily and will be readily understood by the non-specialist."

—History Today

"...certainly the best book yet written about Saladin in English."

—The Times Literary Supplement

Saladin was one of the best known figures of the Middle Ages. The West accepted him as a hero; Islam was indebted to him for the recovery of Jerusalem. In this book Lyons and Jackson offer fresh information setting Saladin's life within the framework of his age.

Victory in the East

A Military History of the First Crusade

John France

This book looks at the First Crusade as a military campaign and asks why it was successful. Modern writing about the crusade has tended to emphasize motivation and the development of the idea of the crusade, but its fate was ultimately decided on the field of battle. This book looks at the nature of war at the end of the eleventh century and the military experience of all the contending parties in order to explain its extraordinary success.

The Thousand and One Nights in Arabic Literature and Society

Richard C. Hovannisian and

Georges Sabagh, Editors

The Thousand and One Nights has captivated audiences for centuries, conveying universal messages through the adventures of both historical and non-historical figures. Yet, in the field of literary criticism and scholarship, it has been marginalized in the tradition of high Arabic literature. This book defies this taboo by emphasizing the continuity rather than the compartmentalization of Arabo-Islamic culture.

Hierarchy and Egalitarianism in Islamic Thought

Louise Marlow

By analyzing a wide range of Arab and Persian literature, Louise Marlow demonstrates that Islam's initial orientation was markedly egalitarian, but the social aspect of this egalitarianism was soon undermined in the aftermath of Islam's political success.

COMPARATIVE STUDIES
in
SOCIETY AND HISTORY

Editor

RAYMOND GREW

University of Michigan

Comparative Studies in Society and History is an international forum for scholars in the social sciences and humanities. Its articles present significant research on societies of every era from pre-history to the present and on every continent. CSSH brings together multidisciplinary research, cultural studies, and theory, emphasizing innovative work in the social sciences, especially anthropology, history, political science, and sociology. In each section, articles on a particular question are grouped together to stimulate comparison of diverse cases. Also included in each issue are CSSH Notes and book reviews.

THE THIRSTY SWORD

Sirat 'Antar and the Arabic Popular Epic
Peter Heath

$50.00 cloth

The first analysis of the written version of Sirat 'Antar, a point of culmination in the rich genre of premodern Arabic epic. Filled with battle and romance, Sirat 'Antar is the life story of Antar ibn Shaddad. He begins life as a black slave but through his military prowess, personal nobility, and poetic talent wins freedom and achieves fame as a hero and renown as the lover of his beautiful cousin, 'Abla. By exploring the epic's scholarly reception, hermeneutical context, historical background, and narrative structure, Peter Heath redresses a gap in the study of Arabic popular literature.

Contributions and Editorial Correspondence

Send article submissions to the Editorial Office (address on inside front cover). Articles submitted to the journal should not be, or have been, submitted elsewhere. Books for review should also be sent to the Editor for forwarding to the Book Review Editors. Unsolicited book reviews cannot be accepted for publication.

Manuscript Preparation and Style

General. An article must be in English, should not exceed 40 typewritten pages (including main text, notes, tables, and figure captions), and should be typed on 8½" × 11" or A4 white bond paper with ample margins on all sides. The entire manuscript—including notes, tables, and references—must be typed double-spaced and numbered consecutively. Title and author's name should be centered at the top of the first text page. Institutional affiliation and location should appear at the bottom of the last text page. The Editor may find it necessary to return manuscripts for reworking or retyping that do not conform to these requirements.

Text. Use a 5-character paragraph indent. Avoid hyphenating words at the end of lines. Do not use desk-top publishing features (e.g., right margin justification or bold and italic typefaces). Block indent long quotations (more than 50 words). Never cross-reference.

Endnotes and References. Notes must be numbered consecutively throughout the text, typed double-spaced in paragraph style, and grouped together as a unit following the text. Footnotes at the bottom of the text page are not permitted. Any acknowledgment of grant support, substantial assistance, etc., should be typed as an Author's Note above the first note. Provide the full name of the author as it appears on the publication. All titles in non-Roman alphabets (Arabic, Cyrillic, etc.) must be transliterated. Foreign titles in Roman alphabets should be capitalized as they would be in that particular language. An English translation of nonstandard language titles should be provided in parentheses after the title. The style of note citations should conform with the following examples:

¹Stanford J. Shaw, History of Ottoman Empire and Modern Turkey, 2 vols. (New York: Cambridge University Press, 1977), Reform, Revolution and Republic: The Rise of Modern Turkey 1808–1975, 2:3–6.

²Jamil M. Abun-Nasr, A History of the Maghrib in the Islamic Period, 3rd ed. (New York: Cambridge University Press, 1987), 10.

³Howard Crane, trans. and ed., Risāle-i Mi'māriyye: An Early-Seventeenth-Century Ottoman Treatise on Architecture, Studies in Islamic Art and Architecture 1 (Leiden: E. J. Brill, 1987), 71.

⁴Martin Rein and Donald Schon, "Frame-Reflective Policy Discourse," in Social Sciences and Modern States, ed. Peter Wagner, Carol Hirschon Weiss, Björn Wittrock, and Hellmut Wollman (New York: Cambridge University Press, 1991), 262–89.

⁵Clifford Geertz, "Toutes Directions: Reading the Signs in an Urban Sprawl," International Journal of Middle East Studies 21 (August 1989): 291–306.

When references to the same work follow without interruption use ibid. When notes to the same work follow after interruption, use the author's last name and a shortened title of the book or article. Do not use op. cit.:

⁶Shaw, History of Ottoman Empire, 2:6.

⁷*Ibid.*, 1:10–52.

As a less-preferred alternative, authors may use the social science method of citation. In the text, cite author and year in parentheses. In the reference section, provide the full citation:

author's full name, title, city of publication, publisher, and year. IJMES does not publish bibliographies.

Foreign Words and Transliteration. All Arabic words found in an unabridged dictionary (e.g., ulema, shaykh, qadi, Sunni, Shi'ī, mihrab, minbar, madrasa, masjid, jami', hadith, suq) should be treated as English words, that is, not underlined and without diacriticals. Contemporary names and places should be spelled as they are found in such standard publications as the New York Times. All other transliterated words and phrases should be underlined and all their diacriticals included throughout the text. Be sure to distinguish between the hamza, 'ayn, and the apostrophe in the text. No diacritical marks other than the hamza and the 'ayn should appear in any proper names (e.g., names of people, dynasties, places) and names of well-known literary works (Qur'an, Shahnama), except: works written in Arabic, Persian, and Ottoman Turkish and cited in transliteration in the notes must include diacriticals for both author and title.

Transliteration System. All non-Roman alphabets must be transliterated, and authors are responsible for the consistency and accuracy of their transliterations. For Arabic and Persian, IJMES uses the modified Encyclopaedia of Islam system: qaf = q not k; jim = j not dj; roman double-letter equivalents are not underlined; the l of al- is not assimilated to the following consonant; ta marbuta is rendered a not ah; the adjectival -ya followed by ta marbuta is rendered -iyya. Except at the beginning of an English sentence or endnote, only proper names are capitalized. For Ottoman Turkish, use either the Encyclopaedia of Islam system or modern Turkish orthography. For treatment of common Turkish words, such as medrese, turbe, etc., follow the rules on anglicizing Arabic and Persian words.

Dates. IJMES does not use double dating. Use common era (A.D.) dates only, unless quoting from an original source, in which case use the date as quoted (hijra, solar, etc.) with the common-era equivalent in parentheses.

Tables and Figures. Tables and figures must be cited in the text, e.g., (see Table 1). They should be numbered consecutively in arabic numbers, captioned, and appear as a unit following the notes section. They cannot be interspersed in the text. Diagrams must be professionally rendered or computer generated; details should be large enough to remain legible at 50% reduction. Below-standard artwork will be returned to the author for replacement. All artwork must be numbered and labeled with the author's name and article title. For halftones or other illustrations, consult the editor.

Publishing Information

Production. The publisher reserves the right to copyedit manuscripts to conform to the journal's style, which follows the rules found in the Chicago Manual of Style. Spelling will be edited to conform to American usage. More substantial editing will be returned to the author for approval before publication.

The lead author will receive one set of proofs for the correction of typographical or factual errors only. No rewriting will be allowed in the proof stage. Authors must return the material to the editorial office within 48 hours of receipt or approval will be assumed.

Offprints. The lead author of an article (but not book-review) will receive 50 free offprints of the article. Additional offprints may be purchased if ordered at the proof stage. Orders received after the issue is printed are subject to a 50% reprint surcharge.

Copyright and Originality. Submission of an article implies that it has not been simultaneously submitted or previously published elsewhere. Authors are responsible for obtaining permission to publish any material under copyright. Contributors will be asked to assign their own copyright, on certain conditions, to Cambridge University Press.
