Notable New Harper Texts

1817

Nations in a Multipolar World

Cecil V. Crabb, Jr. / 702 pages; $11.00

The author examines and analyzes succinctly, yet completely, the basic data needed to understand present-day international relations. Recognizing that the field of international relations is vast and diverse, he utilizes several approaches or principles to make the subject matter meaningful, intelligible and relevant.

American Foreign Policy in the Making

Eleanor Lansing Dulles / 370 pages; $3.95 paper

This new text provides an analysis of the apparatus and history of American foreign policy since the end of World War II and puts into historical perspective the aims of that policy and its degrees of success and failure.

Beyond Ideology:

THE REVIVAL OF POLITICAL THEORY

Dante Germino / 254 pages; $5.00

This new text is a superbly organized and lucid analysis of contemporary political science and modern man's political and social problems. The author presents a trenchant argument against the thesis that political theory is now in a state of decay; he examines the need and prospect for recovering the humanist tradition of political theory and places modern theory in proper historical perspective.

Comparative Government and Politics:

AN INTRODUCTORY ESSAY IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

Michael Curtis / 265 pages; $3.50 paper

Here is the core volume in the series of political studies of individual countries and areas under Dr. Curtis' editorship. It seeks to introduce the student to the subject of comparative politics through both an analytical and institutional approach.

The Government and Politics of Contemporary Italy

Dante Germino and Stefano Passigli / 212 pages; $3.25 paper

This new text provides a sophisticated framework for an understanding of Italian politics. It illuminates both the achievements and the weaknesses of the Italian political system, without demanding that Italy's form of constitutional democracy pattern itself after the British or the American model. Provides a lasting insight into the mechanism behind the changing political order.

French Politics and Political Institutions

Roy Pierce / 275 pages; $3.25 paper

This brief but thorough analysis of French politics is based on the broad range of recent research done by European and American scholars and covers events through the legislative election of March, 1967.

NEW BOOKS FROM PRENTICE-HALL

SOME CONCEPTUAL APPROACHES TO THE STUDY OF MODERNIZATION, by David E. Apter, Director, Institute of International Studies, University of California, Berkeley

This new text presents the development of theoretical concepts useful in the analysis of modernization, particularly in its political aspects. This in turn is related to the broader question of the changing intellectual structure of politics itself. The book stresses a new paradigm of politics which in itself stands as a theory. November 1968, approx. 390 pp., Paperbound $4.95

SEARCH FOR COMMUNITY POWER, by Frederick M. Wirt, Denison University and Willis D. Hawley, University of California, Berkeley

Written from two points of view, that of the sociologist and that of the political scientist, this book deals with the description and conceptualization of the structure of power in the American city. It covers the intellectual developments that have taken place in the last thirty years in the study of the city. August 1968, approx. 404 pp., Paperbound $5.25

AMERICAN LEGISLATIVE PROCESS: THE CONGRESS AND THE STATES, 2nd Edition, 1968, by William J. Keefe, Chatham College and Morris S. Ogul, University of Pittsburgh

"This book proposes to describe and analyze the American legislative process. We have sought to wring the most that we can from a variety of approaches to the study of legislative processes and problems and have drawn upon a wide-ranging assortment of studies—of legal, behavioral, normative and historical dimensions."—From the Preface. May 1968, approx. 544 pp., $8.95

THEORY OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS: THE CRISES OF RELEVANCE, by Abdul A. Said, School of International Service, The American University

These original essays by outstanding authorities show the reader the influences, operational hypotheses, and emerging directions in international relations theory. The text explores the gaps between science and politics, between traditional concepts and new areas of perception. September 1968, approx. 208 pp., Paperbound $2.95

New in The Foundations of Modern Political Science Series, Edited by Robert A. Dahl, Yale University

THE POLICY-MAKING PROCESS, by Charles E. Lindblom, Yale University

This book is a brief, highly systematic description and analysis of the policy-making function of government. August 1968, approx. 128 pp., Clothbound $4.95

New in The Contemporary Political Science Series, Edited by David Easton, University of Chicago

OF POWERS AND THEIR POLITICS, by Arthur L. Burns, Institute of Advanced Studies, Australian National University, Canberra, Australia

Criticizing and synthesizing recent theories of relations between the great powers, the author devises models and partial theories in a philosophical context of the politics of the great powers. Fall 1968, approx. 300 pp., Clothbound $5.95
