

A newly-revised and expanded edition in the highly acclaimed Contemporary Writers Series . . .

CONTEMPORARY DRAMATISTS

2nd Edition

Preface by Ruby Cohn

CONTEMPORARY DRAMATISTS gives detailed information on some 300 playwrights writing in the English language. Each entry contains: biography; listing of all plays, with details of first production, production in New York and London, and publication; details of other work in the theatre—plays directed or produced, plays in which the entrant has acted, etc.; information about work for radio, television and the movies; a listing of those critical studies the playwright considers relevant in understanding his or her work; an optional comment by the entrant; and a signed critical essay.

An additional 100 playwrights are included in a Supplement of essays and appendices on screenwriters, radio and television writers, musical librettists, and on the theatre of mixed means and theatre collectives.

For this new edition, the editors have included an appendix of entries for important playwrights who have died since the 1950's, but whose reputations are essentially contemporary. They include Brendan Behan, Joe Orton, Lorraine Hansberry, and John Whiting.

An 82-page Title Index of all plays listed in the book completes the volume.

"Highly recommended for all reference collections." —Choice

"Invaluable as a reference tool for libraries and for anyone who studies the drama." —Saturday Review Syndicate CONTEMPORARY DRAMATISTS is volume 3 in the Contemporary Writers Series (vol. 1: Contemporary Poets, 2nd ed. 1975; Contemporary Novelists, 2nd ed. 1976. Editions are revised every five years.

CONTEMPORARY DRAMATISTS is now available.

The National Shakespeare Company Conservatory

*Two Year Professional
Training Program for the Actor*

"The training of the actor is no more of a mystery than the training of a musician or dancer. As with the musician, the actor learns to play an instrument; as with the dancer, the instrument is the body. For both, imagination, intelligence and discipline are applied to a craft so that an expressive and creative moment can take place."

Philip Meister Director

The National Shakespeare Company Conservatory is dedicated to the premise that an actor whose training is rooted in the disciplines necessary for classical literature is better prepared for the demands of contemporary theatre, film and television.

The program is designed to prepare all facets of the actor's instrument: body, imagination, intellect. However, most important is the special attention The Conservatory pays to the integration of all of these aspects in the training process.

The Conservatory training program is a two year (four term) curriculum.

Winter First Term: January 30, 1978

Fall First Term: September, 1978

“The stage to me is the most mystical
of all places and requires all of your concentration.
Other forms of acting do too, but the stage is immediate, it’s more within the actor’s control. If you learn the craft of acting on a stage,

Butter's Going Up

A Critical Analysis of Harold Pinter's Work
Steven H. Gale

MARK. I see that butter's going up.

LEN. I'm prepared to believe it, but it doesn't answer my question.

The Dwarfs

"Gale's discussions illuminate and clarify in a way other studies have not." Kenneth R. R. Gros Louis.

"Steven Gale's book on Pinter is sophisticated yet simple like Pinter's best works and is infinitely more readable than most of the other criticism I've encountered. His evaluation of the playwright's major preoccupations is more logical and interesting than what other critics have noted. More than any other critic of Pinter, Gale takes the plays for what they are and describes what they are about. This is no small achievement." Kimball King.

His stage: the world.

Opium addict and madman, poet, playwright, and architect of the "theater of cruelty," Antonin Artaud has exercised perhaps the greatest single influence on the contemporary theater. In this long-awaited critical biography, Ronald Hayman examines the whole of Artaud's work against the tragedies of his life, probing the profound impact of Artaud's work upon such men as Barrault, Genet, Peter Weiss, Peter Brook, and Grotowski, while assessing Artaud's ever increasing importance on the theater today. With photographs and Artaud's own drawings and paintings. $10.95

Six Plays for Children by Aurand Harris

Biography and Play Analyses by Coleman A. Jennings

This first anthology and critical study of the work of America's most celebrated children's theatre playwright includes Androcles and the Lion, Rags to Riches, Punch and Judy, Steal Away Home, Peck's Bad Boy, and Yankee Doodle. The editor provides an incisive analysis of each play and traces Harris's development as a playwright in a biographical study based on personal interviews.

Theatre for the People

The Story of the Volksbühne

By Cecil W. Davies

Theatre for the People is the first full account in any language of the history, productions, and significance of the Volksbühne, Germany's remarkable theatre for working people. Founded in turn-of-the-century Berlin, the Volksbühne flourishes today in West Germany as the largest, most influential theatre organization in the world.

220 pages, $11.95

Script into Performance A Structuralist View of Play Production

By Richard Hornby

Representing not merely theory, but theory successfully applied, this study is exciting and useful reading for practitioners and scholars of theatre alike. Hornby describes his own productions of The Cenci, The Doll House, and The Homecoming in which he uses a Structuralist method to develop a model of the relation between play-script and performance.

230 pages, $11.95

Theater and Propaganda

By George H. Szanto

Exploring the points at which theater and propaganda meet, Szanto provides a fascinating discussion of the distortion of information that occurs in dramatic literature in its stage, film, and television forms. He analyzes the nature of "integration propaganda," designed to render the audience passive, as opposed to "agitation propaganda" which aims to inspire action.

A New Development in M.A. and Ph.D. programs

New York University's graduate Drama Department has always been interested in new developments in performance. Now we are in the process of broadening the range of departmental offerings in order to keep abreast of current thinking about performance in developing areas of scholarship, to emphasize particular strengths and specializations of our faculty, and to relate to a wider range of employment opportunities.

The new program, for both the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees, intends to offer courses in six areas, some of them unusual or unique:

ARCHIVES AND RESEARCH CONTEMPORARY PERFORMANCE
DANCE
PERFORMANCE THEORY
PERFORMANCE WRITING AND ANALYSIS
POPULAR PERFORMANCE

- Archives and Research will include course work and practical training, work that is now being done, in part, at the Shubert Archives under a grant from the Shubert Foundation.
- Contemporary Performance will focus on avant-garde, experimental, and alternative theatre. A course in Paratheatre will be offered in Fall 77.
- Dance will cover both theatrical and non-theatrical forms.
- Performance Theory will emphasize the relationship of theatre to thinking in anthropology, ethnology, linguistics, psychology, etc. and in the other arts.
- Performance Writing will be concerned with journalistic and popular writing about theatre. The course in Semiotics of Performance, offered in Fall 77, is representative of the work in Analysis.
- Popular Performance reinforces the non-literary orientation of the department and deals, in the Fall 77 term, with such topics as Festival and Folk theatre and the Commedia dell'Arte and Its Influence.

The faculty of the graduate Drama Department for 77-78 will include:

Theodore Hoffman
Françoise Kourilsky (adjunct professor)
Michael Kirby (on sabbatical leave)
Brooks McNamara (acting chairman)
Richard Schechner

Would you spend $8 for a magazine that shows you how to walk on water, raise the dead and make angels of mere mortals?

No miracle is too great for the behind-the-scenes professional. Yours are the costumes and scenery that set Shaw's Inferno ablaze. Whose lighting brings out the best in Olivier. Whose direction keeps the freshman class from falling flat on its face. And often you manage on what seems little more than a borrowed shoelace and your own creativity. So to make the task a bit easier, there's THEATRE CRAFTS. The magazine with the professional know-how that helps you turn the impossible into the beautiful.

IS OFFERING AN ALTERNATIVE PROGRAM IN:

EXPERIMENTAL THEATRE

The Department of Drama, Undergraduate, which offers a B.F.A. degree in acting, is pleased to announce an alternative program of study with the Experimental Theatre Wing. A limited number of students will have the opportunity to work intimately with leading experimental theatre groups in a two-year program designed for students who have completed two years of foundation work with one of the three professional studios associated with our Department: Stella Adler Conservatory of Acting, Circle in the Square Theatre School, and The Lee Strasberg Theatre Institute. The ETW is also open to students who have studied acting elsewhere and who wish to transfer into our Department. Students in the ETW will work in unique acting, voice and movement workshops taught from the point of view of members from each of the following experimental theatre groups: The Performance Group (best known for explorations of audience participation and environmental theatre), The Ridiculous Theatrical Company (specializing in Commedia dell'arte), Mabou Mines (known for conceptual adaptations of Beckett and experiments with new music and movement), Chi-Kanji and original members of the Open Theater—each known for uniquely experimental approaches to ensemble acting. In addition to studying with the groups, students will be expected to take dramatic literature, theatre history (including studies in the avant-garde), and performance theory courses offered through the Department. The program also includes summer workshops with the Iowa Theater Lab and the Bread and Puppet Theater.

Since the nature of the groups involves frequent international tours, the order and availability of the groups varies each semester. For each year's schedule and further information contact:

The Drama Studio London

One Year Full-Time Acting Course

Director PETER LAYTON

The Drama Studio is the only major British drama school specializing exclusively in the training of post-graduate and other advanced students.

The course provides an intensive one-year full-time training with practical instruction in acting, movement, speech, voice production, singing, characterization, mime, stage fighting, television and radio techniques, improvisation, and text study, with rehearsals leading to monthly workshop performances.

The course also includes audition and interview techniques, and deals with the problems of finding work in the acting profession.
