

Editor's Notes

The Council on Research in Economic History invites applications for grants of modest sums of money to initiate or advance significant projects of research in economic history. Inquiries and applications should be directed to Hugh G. J. Aitken, Secretary, The Council on Research in Economic History, c/o Department of Economics, Amherst College, Amherst, Massachusetts 01002.

The attention of readers of the Journal is called to a program of republication of classical German studies in economic history now being initiated by Scientia, Haldenweg 10, 708 Aalen, Germany. The first of the books offered in this series is Krug's Betrachtungen über den Nationalreichtum des preussischen Staates, an early (1805) study in political arithmetic.

Readers interested in the economic history of French Canada are invited to communicate with the Centre de Recherche en Histoire Économique du Canada Français, whose address is École des Hautes Études Commerciales, 535 Viger Avenue, Montreal 24, Quebec. The first book to be published under the auspices of this research center is Fernand Ouellet's Histoire Économique et Sociale du Québec, 1760-1850: Structures et Conjonctures (Montreal and Paris: Fides, 1966). $10.00.
