PHILOSOPHY

The editorial policy of the journal pursues the aims of the Institute: to promote the study of philosophy in all its branches: logic, metaphysics, epistemology, ethics, aesthetics, social and political philosophy and the philosophies of religion, science, history, language, mind and education. The Institute is not committed to any school or method and its membership is not restricted to those with special qualifications in philosophy. Contributors are expected to avoid all needless technicality.

MEMBERSHIP

The Institute welcomes as members any who are interested in philosophy. There are centres of the Institute at the University of Newcastle upon Tyne, the University College of North Wales and the University of Southern California. In these centres, and at the London headquarters, an annual programme of lectures is arranged. Members receive copies of Philosophy but not the volumes in the Royal Institute of Philosophy Lectures series.

The annual subscription is £2.50, $6.50 in the U.S.A. and Canada. Membership is effective from 1 April of any year. Application should be made to THE SECRETARY, ROYAL INSTITUTE OF PHILOSOPHY, 14 GORDON SQUARE, LONDON WC1H 0AG. Members are reminded that subscriptions fall due on 1 April (receipts to renewing members will be issued only on request).

LECTURE PROGRAMME

The lecture programme for the year 1973–1974 has been arranged by Professor Richard Peters of the University of London Institute of Education. There will be sixteen lectures under the general title 'Nature and Conduct'. Full details of the programme are given in Notebook on pp. 312–313.
