Coming in 1996–1997,
volumes 29 and 30, of the

The Journal continues to define new areas of historical coverage and to clarify major interpretive issues in the field with groupings of articles on such subjects as:

New topics in modern social history

- accidents and children
- women and motherhood
- sleep and historical change
- communist cultures and gender

A new emphasis on synthesis:

Professionalization; labor patterns, race and social structure; childhood and schooling

Slavery and demography

Social history and the meaning of manners

Extending the study of family: marriage and the single state

Explorations in new aspects of birth control and sexuality

- Plus
- new research on history in the United States, Latin America, Europe, Tibet, South Africa, and Russia
 - many other articles and reviews, as the JSH maintains its role as a major outlet for historical research.

Also as an individual subscriber to the JSH you can receive a 25 percent discount from 15 American and British publishers.

Copying

This journal is registered with the Copyright Clearance Center, 222 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, MA 01923, USA. Organizations in the USA who are also registered with the C.C.C. may therefore copy material (beyond the limits permitted by sections 107 and 108 of U.S. Copyright law) subject to payment to the C.C.C. of the per copy fee of $7.50. This consent does not extend to multiple copying for promotional or commercial purposes. Code 0020-8590/96. ISI Tear Sheet Service, 3501 Market Street, Philadelphia, PA 19104, USA, is authorized to supply single copies of separate articles for private use only. Organizations authorized by the Copyright Licensing Agency may also copy material subject to the usual conditions. For all other use, permission should be sought from Cambridge or from the American Branch of Cambridge University Press.

Guidelines for contributors

Manuscripts are considered for publication on the understanding that they are not currently under consideration elsewhere and that the material – in substance as well as form – has not been previously published.

Two copies of the manuscript should be submitted.

Each article should be accompanied by a summary, not exceeding 100 words, outlining the principal conclusions and methods in the context of currently accepted views on the subject.

All material – including quotations and notes – must be double-spaced with generous margins. Use of dot-matrix printers is discouraged.

Notes should be numbered consecutively and placed at the end of the text.

Spelling should be consistent throughout (e.g. Labour and Labor are both acceptable, but only one of these forms should be used in an article).

Turns of phrase using masculine forms as universals are not acceptable.

Sample Citation Forms
