MODERN EUROPE EXPLAINED. NEW EDITION

By W. R. McAULIFFE, B.A., First Class Special Honours (Senior Honoursman), School of Mediæval and Modern History at London University. 4s. 6d.

The entire text of the previous book has been revised, and chapters and maps added to cover the course of events to the end of the Second World War. The book provides in as simple language as possible a brief account of the history of the major states of Europe, which from time to time appear in the press as principals in some new economic or political problem.

THE CONCERN FOR SOCIAL JUSTICE IN THE PURITAN REVOLUTION

W. Schenk, Ph.D.

An extremely interesting revaluation—based largely on material from the pamphlets in the Thomason collection—of the social reformers in the Puritan Revolution, too often classed as fore-runners of present-day ideologies. It will be valued highly by every student of seventeenth-century and Puritan thought.

THE AWAKENING OF MODERN EGYPT

M. Rifaat Bey, M.A.

A study by an Egyptian historian of the development of Egypt from Napoleonic times to the present, discussing the inter-relation of English, French and Turkish interests in the country, and its part in nineteenth-century history as a whole.

“Egyptian history has hitherto been almost exclusively written by non-Egyptians. Now for the first time we can follow the story of modern Egypt through Rifaat Bey’s virile, scholarly and accurate Egyptian eyes. His story is revealing.” (Fortnightly) 15s. net
