

EDITOR'S CORNER

As I wrote in the June issue, we were actively seeking a Latin American coeditor for Latin American Antiquity, in order to continue the coeditorship created by the previous editorial team of Gary M. Feinman and Linda Manzanilla. I am pleased to announce that Dr. Patricia Fournier, of the Escuela Nacional de Antropología e Historia, División de Posgrado, Mexico City, has agreed to take this important post. Given her broad archaeological expertise, her previous editorial experience, and her record of service to the SAA, she is a most capable and appreciated addition to the editorial team.

We would like to thank the Committee on the Americas, under the chairship of both Alberto Borrero and Barbara Stark, and the Publications Committee, chaired by Christopher Chippindale, for their assistance in supporting Patricia's nomination. And we are grateful to the Board of Directors and President Keith Kintigh for their swift approval of her appointment. I look forward to sharing the helm with Patricia for the remainder of our three-year coeditorship.

PATAGONIA

Natural History, Prehistory, and Ethnography at the Uttermost End of the Earth

Edited by Colin McEwan, Luis A. Borrero, and Alfredo Prieto

Some fourteen to ten thousand years ago, as ice-caps shrank and glaciers retreated, the first bands of hunter-gatherers began to colonize the continental extremity of South America—"the uttermost end of the earth." Their arrival marked the culmination of humankind's epic journey to people the globe. Now they are extinct. This book tells their story.

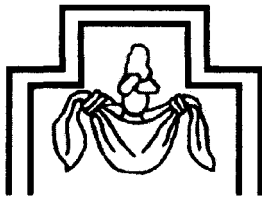

Accompanied by 110 striking photographs, these essays are published to accompany a major exhibition on Fuego-Patagonia at the Museum of Mankind, London.
