The Hours of the Passion

By JUDE MEAD, C.P.

WOOD ENGRAVINGS BY BRUNO BRAMANTI

Before the rosary came into popular use countless generations of Christian people had a powerful source for prayerful contemplation in the illustrated Hour Books of medieval devotion. In this modern Hour Book—written in the form of reflections and meditations—the author portrays the whole drama of Christ's passion. 21s.

The Cross and the Christian

By P. R. REGAMEY, O.P.

This work offers an honest appraisal of the four predominant reactions to suffering in contemporary life. The author does not refer only to heroic suffering, but to little crosses that are as commonplace as a man's daily life and work. 26s.

The Love of the Crucified

Meditations on the Passion

By KARL CLEMENS, C.S.S.R.

Since the principles of Christian perfection prevail in the hundred and three meditations in this book—so that there is hardly any ascetical truth that has not been touched on—they are suitable for all devout souls who sincerely strive after Christian perfection. 40s.

Lent

A Liturgical Commentary on the Lessons and Gospels

By CONRAD PEPLER, O.P.

'In the warp and weft of the Scriptural background are woven solid discussions on penance, mortification, prayer, the Mystical Body, suffering, sacrifice, joy, victory and union.'—Commonweal. 37s. 6d.
