

PREFACE

This volume is the second of two volumes comprising the proceedings of the 1992 Biennial Meeting of the Philosophy of Science Association held in Chicago, Illinois. The first volume, consisting of the program and the contributed papers, was published in advance of the meeting in October, 1992. The second volume consists of the presidential address, invited papers and symposia. Northwestern University provides generous support for the preparation of these volumes.

The Program Committee, consisting of Kathleen Okruhlik (Chair), Cristina Bicchieri, James Robert Brown, Jeremy Butterfield, Daniel Garber, and Elisabeth Lloyd, arranged for the symposia and invited papers. Kathleen Okruhlik would like to thank Penelope Lister for secretarial assistance and the Department of Philosophy and the Faculty of Arts of the University of Western Ontario for their financial contributions. Micky Forbes, Assistant Editor of the Proceedings, supervised the editing and processing of the papers to produce uniform, camera ready copy. The PSA Business Office saw the copy through to publication.

We wish to thank the Program Committee for the considerable time and energy they contributed and our authors for their cooperation over a tight publication schedule. We are grateful to Northwestern University for financial support and to its Academic Computing Center for the use of its microcomputing facilities. Special thanks are due Wendy Ward whose expertise and imagination in utilizing these facilities shows up on nearly every page of the volume.
