Visions of Spiritual Liberation

Elisabeth Schüssler Fiorenza
DISCIPLESHIP OF EQUALS
A Critical Feminist
Ekklesia-logy of Liberation

"Elisabeth Schüssler Fiorenza presents a collection of superb essays which . . . articulate a vision of spiritual liberation and authority for Christian women. . . . Recommended without reservation for collections in women's studies, religious studies, and sociology."

John Sanford
MYSTICAL CHRISTIANITY
A Psychological Commentary on the Gospel of John

John Sanford opens a new door to the Gospel of John and discovers a treasure-house of psychological insight. He shows how this gospel, rich in symbolic language, demonstrates an essential understanding of psychological ideas that many people today call shadow, ego, center, self, individuation, and how the kingdom of God embodies within it the idea of entering into a "state of wholeness." $24.95

Charlotte Caron
TO MAKE AND MAKE AGAIN

Feminist Ritual Theology
Co-winner of the 1992 Crossroad Women's Studies Award—a fascinating exploration of women's rituals as signs of justice and peace in the world. Caron explores the links between ritual and social action, to show how religious rituals can both challenge and nurture women in their work for justice and well-being in the world.

Christine Downing
GODS IN OUR MIDST
Mythological Images of the Masculine: A Woman's View

In her latest book Christine Downing turns to the "gods in our midst," the Greek gods as they appear to women, and shows how these energies and epiphanies embodied in male gods are relevant to women's "inner experience, their most profound needs and hopes, their bitterest suffering and greatest fear."

Illustrated $14.95

Christine Downing
THE GODDESS
Mythological Images of the Feminine

"Christine Downing combines historical scholarship, depth psychological analysis, and personal experience in her search for the contemporary meaning of the Greek goddesses. This is a profound and important book."

HORIZONS

The Journal of the College Theology Society

A journal exploring developments in Catholic theology, the total Christian tradition, human religious experience, and the concerns of creative teaching from the college and university environment.

What is the recipe for a typically far-ranging issue of Horizons? Take a cup of Saints after the Death of God, one Dorothy Day, a spoonful of Sacramentality of Marriage, and a dash of Women in the Third World; spice with a pinch of Merton, and stir in a good measure of Discipleship, Pacifism, and Just War Theory. Serve with an assortment of Book Reviews.

Our chefs for this issue are Theresa Sanders on "Seeking a Minor Sun: Saints after the Death of God," Sandra Yocum Mize on "Dorothy Day's Apologia for Faith after Marx," Joseph Martos on "A New Conceptual Context for the Sacramentality of Marriage," Patricia DeFerrari on "Seeking Full Dignity: Catholic Social Teaching and Women in the Third World," and Thomas Rausch on "Teaching Merton to Undergraduates." Denise Lardner Carmody, John Yoder, Moni McIntyre, and James Turner Johnson join Lisa Sowle Cahill in a discussion of her Love Your Enemies.

We mourn the loss this year of Joan Leonard, past President of the CTS, and John Carmody, longtime good friend of Horizons. Each of them modelled the life of love and dedication to teaching and writing. Both taught all of us who knew them about love, especially during these recent years of their painful struggles with cancer. We are glad to know that Joan is honored through the dedication to her of the most recent CTS Annual Volume, Women and Theology, which includes her Presidential Address. John was honored, jointly with Denise Carmody, by the CTSA this year with the John Courtney Murray Award.
